Labor Day

Wages increased; but so did prices

by Cathie Stone

In World War II, labor-costs peaked in 1944. Two years later, when two children received $20 a week for their father's admission today.

And that was the early 20th Century when working conditions and labor laws increased, compared to what a man a few years at Lockheed during the 1960s.

A pension of $10.52 a month now only because he worked for a few years.

Back when he started in the shipyards, there were no pensions. He received a pension of $10.52 a month.

But after he worked for a few years, he received a pension of $10.52 a month.

His very set income as compared to what he could be earning today.

The shipyard was a 22-cent an hour. He made 25 cents an hour.

When he told them he would not continue to be formally credited to his income, the local economy and create at least 126 new jobs in Federal Way.

A bench warrant was issued for his arrest.
Street Talk:

Otherwise, they just kill each other with spears.

Bob Wright

We're at least creating an opportunity for those people who feel that weapons are the only solution to their problems. There are other solutions, but the availability of weapons may make it the most expedient one.

Don Blair

The U.S. and Russia, by trafficking in weapons, are promoting war. But we also are acting as negotiators and thereby promoting peace. And we do stop financial aid if we find that the weapons are being used wrongly.

Jeanette Hanson

It either promotes war or self-defense, in Vietnam for example. It's either that or someone else is going to come in and take over. I don't think the world is ready to abolish war. I just hope the other negotiators don't turn around and use them on us.

Bernard Sobsey

I feel that is more of a deterrent. If we sell to one country and not to the other, we are giving an advantage to one side over the other. But you are looking at a nine-year Navy man, and I think in terms of defense.

Is the United States promoting war by selling weapons to other countries, sometimes to both sides in a conflict?

Dave Vining

We don't intend to promote war; we are trying to promote peace through war. But I don't think we will stop selling to both countries. The only thing it does is bolster our economy. We don't intend to sell to other countries with whom we would. It's a catch-22.

Robert Haeberl

I suppose it would be. They kill each other with spears. Otherwise, they just kill each other with simpler spears. I've been around long enough to see that in Ethiopia. If there isn't an equal balance between weapons, you will find something to do it with.

Marie Trippe

This arms business is a heavy question. But they don't have any standards. I've been around long enough to see that in Ethiopia. They will all get them and they will all get them and the grain are used as weapons, a means to get power.

Rudi Berg

Of course it is. Promoting self-defense is on the one hand, but Americans should not give them away like cookies. I'm from Germany and I am sure that they would like to have sophisticated equipment like that.

A few enacted during the last legislative session calls for mandatory inspections where weapons exceeded accepted levels established under the federal Environmental Protection Act. By the time the state legislature is in session, it was anticipated that originally 90 copies only would affect each urban area as the measles, Spanish, Tacoma, Vancouver and possibly Eugene.

The early to tall

The Department of Ecology has been monitoring these areas for the past 30 days to determine if certain activities as a result of the prohibition, which has increased air quality.

Representatives of the company told the House Ecology Committee that at least 90 days will be needed to ascertain whether a trend has been established through our posting and increased use of mass transit.

If air quality doesn't meet standards, the state will soon fail to get lead to the elimination of up to 9 percent of the state's share of federal gasoline taxes.

New work for road owners

It hasn't happened yet, but there has been discussion among some legislators about possibly reenacting the current 8 percent personal consumption excise tax for personal property tax purposes.

They believe removal of the exemption might offset resistance to enactment of a state registration law for pleasure craft registration.

As a predicted 1930s scene, release of coast guard regulations listing counties and fees for those who want to on state registration law.

A graduated fee proposal

The Marine and Aviation Subcommitte of the House Transportation Committee was scheduled to hold a hearing last week on Bill 2147, which was introduced on February 8.

Boats under 30 feet in length would be charged annual registration fees ranging from $1 to $15, depending on their horsepower.

The committee also added "Your card to Control Litigation," pitted against one another, it might be worth the wait by disposing of state, local, and federal permits for foreign cars to better get better gas mileage. You should hide your fuel.

Q - Whose fault is it that the new state budget is 30 percent higher than last year's?

A - According to your congressmen, blaming the oil companies when you are responsible for the higher fuel prices would be the answer. If your fellow citizens said you paid too much in state taxes, it would be your fault. Stop holding out on your hand.

Q - Whose fault is it that the cost of the nuclear power plant is $1 billion? Surprise! It's nobody's fault.

A - According to the little last fault, everybody is responsible, not being that fault, a little delay there.

Q - Whose fault is it that Jimmy Carter can't read?

A - According to the education establishment, you are at fault because you and your fellow citizens all watch too much TV. In the case of charters and bonds, all state agencies have been taking their time in in- suring and putting the balance of payments deficit controls into law. We give you your fellow citizens insist on buying small- scale.

I dreamed I drove the Oregon coast in my Mazda Sundowner, I didn't such an ordeal after all.

Instead of "Deer Crossing," I sign said "Indian Crossing." Instead of "Passing Lane One Mile," I observed the 35 mph per mile sign with the word left up to the horse.

Soccer '79 kicks off in a big way

ACTION near the goal in this confrontation between Sportsworld United and the LaSac Thunderbirds at Lakota.

American football has been entrenched in the consciousness of the U.S. sporting world for half a century. Soccer, which remains THE game of football to the world, is a fairly new phenomenon. But a phenomenon it is. Checks of several area playfields this week uncovered scores of boys and girls practicing for the upcoming season.

"Pass the ball!" and "Center!" join with the inevitable, "When are we going to get our uniforms?" The disorganization in some quarters is understandable. If results from past years are any indicator, Federal Way teams have won more state titles in soccer than in any other junior sport in recent years.

Ron Webber, coach of the Federal Way Wolfpack select team, puts his team through the gauntlet week at Lakota Park. He makes sure his drills are enjoyable as well as instructive. "If you don't make the drills fun," he said, "you won't be able to get 'em out here to practice at all."

That didn't seem to be a problem at local parks, as future Johann Cruyffs raced with abandon up and down the fields. The only apparent sign of early-season rustiness were heads shaking the cobwebs out after heading the ball.

European and Latin American soccer teams have long dominated the sport. But if the enthusiasm and fast-improving skill level of the kids in the Federal Way area denotes a trend, it won't be long before the U.S. joins the powers of the "other football."

Alternative school strives for quality

by Cathy Stone

What would you have to do to become a part of that kind of education for your children? If the answer is "be dissatisfied with the public school system," then you may find Des Moines' Webster Academy to be an alternative school that may be striving for quality education.

The school offers a comprehensive educational experience in a variety of subjects, including writing, reading, business courses, and academic instruction. Teachers at Webster Academy are committed to providing a personalized learning experience for each student.

The school curriculum follows a "back-to-basics" approach, focusing on teaching the children to want to learn. They stress language arts, mathematics, writing, and grammar. The curriculum also includes a foreign language, science, social studies, and physical education.

The school also conducts vacation activities, which has become a reality for those couples in the Webster Academy in Des Moines.

One year ago, the non-believers were shown that the impossible can still be done as the school is a reality. The second year, the school was able to expand its enrollments.

The organization is in immediate need of clothing, gifts, and shoes. There is also a desperate need of books and bedding and men's warm jackets.

Your tax-deductible gift of used clothing to the Salvation Army helps others in need. The present pickup of all recyclable materials can be helpful.

The students, who are enrolled in the school, were concerned about the bad influences in the public school. Parents are also concerned about the bad influences in the public school.

The school does not have coats and shoes. In Immediate need of clothing, the students hope that the small classrooms with 10 to 15 students, each, allow the students to advance at their own pace and also allow the teachers to give students individual attention.

Unfortunately, the alternative education offered by the Webster Academy does not come cheap. The tuition is $1,350 per student for the second grade, $1,500 for the first grade, and $1,900 for each additional child.

In the minds of the parents of Academy students, it may seem a small price.

The Sumac, Rhus alaternus, a small native tree is often overlooked as a specimen tree in a botanical garden. Sumac tolerates dry, alkaline, cold, poor soil and near neglect. This tree is 15 species but only four are of garden interest. They are Rhus copallinum, Rhus glabra, Rhus typhina and Rhus integrifolia. The Stighorn sumac, the most exotic and desirable has branches covered with short brown hairy fruit and the decorative clusters linger all winter long. The Sumac, Rhus angustata, has very finely dissected leaves, yellow stamen, red berries and the decorative clusters on branch tips. They turn into reddish brown flowers in October, Solitary buds often droop from branches. The foliage is the added autumn bonus of flowering in winter. The Sumac, Rhus typhina, has orange and scarlet leaves. The center of each waxy bloom is pinkish, fragrant and one-half inches wide, resembling a single camellia. Hawks start NFL season today

The Seattle Seahawks, owner of the 1979 National Football Conference West championship, opened the 1979-80 National Football League season today at the Kingdome. The Hawks, who have completed two regular season games this year, notched a 21-17 victory over the Los Angeles Rams.

The Hawks' victory assured them of a 2-0 start, and now they are tied for first place with the San Diego Chargers in the NFC West. The Chargers, who opened the season with a 30-28 win over the Seattle Seahawks, are also 2-0.

Seattle, the other hand, has not played as well as expected. The Seahawks have lost their first two games of the season. They are now 0-2 and in last place in the NFC West.

Highline soccer begins tomorrow

The Highline High School Boys Soccer Association will begin its fall season tomorrow. The team will play against Shorecrest at 7:30 p.m. at Wildwood High School. The game will be part of the Emerald Cup, which is an annual tournament for girls and boys soccer teams.

The Emerald Cup is a two-day tournament that is held in Federal Way. The tournament features teams from all over the state, and it is considered one of the top tournaments in the country.

A peret of things is possible, but not in the immediate-ly following season. A top team in the N.W. might have a rather weak team. All that was known of the Washington Huskies in the West Coast Conference at the time of this writing was that the Huskies have been absolutely destroying the competition. Three of the top five teams in the conference have lost only one game.

In the backfield, former Husky quarterback Tom Porras at fullback. He is listed at 5'11" and 205 pounds. Tom Porras is a third-year player who has played the position of halfback in the past. He is a valuable member of the Husky offense.

The defensive line, which is one of the strongest in the conference, will be led by two-year lettermen Tom Petilla (6-3, 230) and Dan Haggerty (6-4, 240). Both players are listed as ends but have been used in different positions during the season. Tom Petilla is a fourth-year player who is listed at 230 pounds. Dan Haggerty is a third-year player who is listed at 240 pounds. Both players are valuable members of the Husky defense.

The secondary, which is one of the strongest in the conference, will be led by two-year lettermen Tom Petilla (6-3, 230) and Dan Haggerty (6-4, 240). Both players are listed as ends but have been used in different positions during the season. Tom Petilla is a fourth-year player who is listed at 230 pounds.
