Topic is drug abuse: Snyder urges big seminar turnout

The three-part drug seminar that begins here next week may be "one of the most important events of the year for local parents," Federal Way School Superintendent Melvin L. Snyder said last week.

Snyder said that the seminar, sponsored by Parents, Kids and Drugs, "will provide us with a unique opportunity which is entitled "Parents, Kids and Drugs." The seminar will be "one of the most important events of the year for local parents," Snyder said.

Snyder added that he plans to attend and participate in the seminars because he believes that drug abuse is a serious problem in Federal Way.

He said that the seminars will be held on Oct. 17 and 24, from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. Wednesday at Decatur High School. The seminars will focus on the topic of drug abuse.

Programs set for fire prevention

Preventing fires will be the special emphasis of area fire departments this week as classes and programs are scheduled to educate the public on the threat of fire.

A session throughout the week at SeaTac Mall will illustrate how fires can be prevented and what to do in case of a fire. Demonstrations on the proper method to store gasoline, how to spot a fire hazard and where to call for help will be special exhibits for children.

Also sponsored by Federal Way Fire Department is the mall will be special exhibits for children. The community center, to be situated in front of the Bon Marche, will instruct children through second grade on the threat of fire. The 20-minute program will include films and animations on drug abuse. Both Federal Way and Des Moines fire districts will be offering fire prevention instruction in area elementary schools this week.

WILDFLOWERS ALSO are sprinkled among the hearty marsh plants. The combination of foliage is unique to the wetland because of an unusual existence of water and light.

ALTHOUGH THE inventory of wildlife in the marsh has not been completed, the dozens of plants identified have been tagged for visitors' information. The wetland, which contains 17 moss species, next month will be the site for moss workshops sponsored by the Tahoma Audubon Society.

Last Monday, Federal Way Fire damaged 19 homes, 31 apartments and two duplexes. Many of these fires could have been prevented, the Federal Way Fire Department reports, if the occupants had been more aware of the hazards in their homes.

The most common causes of fire were the following: gas storage, household electric heaters, wood stoves, aluminum wiring, matches and lighters.

Gas storage

Some fires in Federal Way were last year were caused by gas. According to Dave Crossen, fire marshal for Federal Way Fire Department, storing gas is particularly dangerous because not only does gas — and other flammable liquids — ignite, they also do so with an explosive force.

This explosion may ignite other objects in the premises of the fire building, according to Crossen. The result is deadly. The good news is: Only 10% of those who are injured from flammable liquid accidents are injured from flammable liquid accidents.

To help cut down on the number of housing equipment-related fires, the Federal Way Fire Department urges the following:

- Keep combustibles away from baseboard heaters.
- Keep all electric cords away from heat sources and unattended matches.
- Move all electric cords away from heaters to prevent short circuits.
- Clean the hearth frequently to remove ash and to stay away from the baseboards.
- Keep all electric cords away from matches or Ughters to prevent short circuits.

Baseboard heaters

A common cause of fire because people often do not realize how hot the baseboard can get. Crossen said. The result is deadly. The good news is: Only 10% of those who are injured from flammable liquid accidents are injured from flammable liquid accidents.

Wood stoves

Wood burning stoves, an increasing popular form of heating, pose a major fire risk largely due to improper installation and maintenance of the equipment.

Various analyses of fire accidents throughout the nation show that wood and other flammable liquids are associated with wood burning equipment. They include a multitude of possible combustible material and stoves and chimneys, cages, improper installation and improper maintenance including chimney systems.

Any wood stove purchased should be tested and labeled by a testing laboratory. Crossen said.

Dangers: your best bet in case of fire

If a fire does start, there is no better device than a smoke detector, a relatively inexpensive device that can save lives and reduce potential property damage caused by fire. "Most fire victims actually die from smoke inhalation before the heat or flames reach them," said Dave Crossen, Federal Way fire marshal. "A good smoke detector provides faster than heat, smoke detectors should give a warning before they are actually fired."

Smoke detectors are credited in saving lives to 13 home fires in Federal Way last year. Without these detectors, the loss could have been much greater, Crossen said.

When purchasing a smoke detector, there are a few things to look for. The most important is a detector that has a full description of its operation, instructions for installation and information about expected life of its components. Consider the location of electrical outlets when buying a detector that requires a power cord. When buying a battery-operated detector, check to see if it sounds a warning when the bulb burns out. Buy extra bulbs with the detector as they are ready for replacement.

Black water to be cleared from WD 124

by Nathalie Weber

The black water problem may be coming to an end in Federal Way, where it has plagued several Federal Way homes throughout the past few months, now should disappear with a decrease in the demand for water and a scheduled flushing of the area water mains, Federal Way's Water Department Manager Martin, WD 124 manager, said that flushing of the mains should begin within two months.

The problem with "black" water surfaced last summer when area residents, primarily in the Twin Lakes area, complained of their tap water being filled with sediment, a substance that turned the water dark. At that time, the water district reported that manganese, a mineral that is absorbed by the water as it passed through the uncontaminated water mains, became contaminated in the contaminated water mains, making showers unpleasant and soiling clothes that were washed with the water.

District residents became concerned that the substance also affected health hazards. Some complained of physical reactions by bathing in the contaminated water. But last summer, it was reported that manganese appeared in the mains because new pipes serving such development are purged with chlorine. After the chlorine contacts the mains for 48 hours, it must be flushed from the system, causing the water movement to stir up the manganese.

But, despite the cause, the developer cannot be held responsible for manganese found in the domestic water. "It's possible for the effects of the movement to stir up the manganese," Martin said.

The complaints trickled in as the water flowed through late July and August. By September, residents complained of physical reactions, and manganese appeared in the mains because new pipes serving such development are purged with chlorine. After the chlorine contacts the mains for 48 hours, it must be flushed from the system, causing the water movement to stir up the manganese. "It's possible for the effects of the movement to stir up the manganese," Martin said.

Several months ago to stir up the manganese, a rate unpredicted by the water district. "With the heavy demand to flush the area water mains, a result of unending fires, ever-increasing growth and some developer cannot be held responsible for manganese found in the domestic water," Martin said.

Finally two additional men were hired six months ago to check the district's water valves and flush the system, which would reduce the amount of sediment. These men now are on duty the day before flushing the water, with a check of the valve check, and flushing should begin within two months, Martin said.

He added that no flushing could be initiated last summer when the problem surfaced because the demand was too high. While the district normally consumes five million gallons per day, flushing the water, it took 12 to 15 million gallons per day. "It was a clear choice of putting the people of the district first," Martin said.

But why did it occur in the first place? Martin said the black water appeared in the water after being stirred up in the mains, a result of manganese carried by the ever-increasing growth and some untimely fires.

The largest culprit appears to be development, which peaked at a rate unpredicted by the water district. "With the heavy demand to flush the area water mains, a result of unending fires, ever-increasing growth and some untimely fires, the developer cannot be held responsible for manganese found in the domestic water," Martin said.

Finally two additional men were hired six months ago to check the district's water valves and flush the system, which would reduce the amount of sediment. These men now are on duty the day before flushing the water, with a check of the valve check, and flushing should begin within two months, Martin said.

He added that no flushing could be initiated last summer when the problem surfaced because the demand was too high. While the district normally consumes five million gallons per day, flushing the water, it took 12 to 15 million gallons per day. "It was a clear choice of putting the people of the district first," Martin said.

But why did it occur in the first place? Martin said the black water appeared in the water after being stirred up in the mains, a result of manganese carried by the ever-increasing growth and some untimely fires.

The largest culprit appears to be development, which peaked at a rate unpredicted by the water district. "With the heavy demand to flush the area water mains, a result of unending fires, ever-increasing growth and some untimely fires, the developer cannot be held responsible for manganese found in the domestic water," Martin said.

District residents became concerned that the substance also affected health hazards. Some complained of physical reactions by bathing in the contaminated water. But last summer, it was reported that manganese appeared in the mains because new pipes serving such development are purged with chlorine. After the chlorine contacts the mains for 48 hours, it must be flushed from the system, causing the water movement to stir up the manganese.

But, despite the cause, the developer cannot be held responsible for manganese found in the domestic water. "It's possible for the effects of the movement to stir up the manganese," Martin said.

The opening producer of the Seattle Shakespearean Company's season at the Seattle Playhouse is Mark A. J. Haran, who has been named the company's executive director.

Haran was educated at the School of Drama at the University of Washington and has been a member of the theater profession for the past 10 years. He has directed and produced plays in various cities, including New York, Chicago, and London. He has also been a member of the company's board of directors and has served as its assistant director.

Haran was recently selected by the company's board of directors to serve as its executive director, a position he has held for the past two years. He is responsible for overseeing the company's artistic and administrative operations.

The company's season includes a variety of Shakespearean works, including "Romeo and Juliet," "Hamlet," and "Macbeth." The season also features productions by the company's resident companies, including the Seattle Shakespeare Company and the Seattle Repertory Theatre.

The company's season concludes with a production of "The Winter's Tale," which is directed by Haran. The production is set against the backdrop of a New York City skyline and features a cast of local actors.

Asbestos tests delayed (again)

There will be a further delay by the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) in the completion of asbestos tests for the Highline School District. The results of the tests were originally scheduled for release in September but postponed until Oct. 1.

But the district received a letter from the EPA last week that indicated it might take until sometime later this month. According to the letter, the agency's analyst was unsuccessfully called out of town last month causing the delay. However, Highline was informed that it is now in first line.

Top schools announced

Seven Highline School District students were among 15,000 of the nation's most intellectually talented students honored recently.

Students were among the semifinalists in the 1986 National Merit Scholarship program. Semi-finalists who advance to finalist standing in the competition will be considered for approximately 8,000 National Merit Scholarships to be awarded in spring 1987.

Top students included:

Michael Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Greer; and Keith Wise, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Scott Greer, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Greer; and Jay Trent, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Scott Greer.

Puyallup come back scorches Eagles, 20-19

by Bert Potter

It takes two halves and four quarters to make a football game. It takes offense and defense.

For the Federal Way Eagles Friday night, it was a case of have and have not in a 20-19 loss to Puyallup. What the Eagles had was an amazing first-half defensive effort. What they lacked was a second-half offense.

Gene Brown carried the ball on seven of 10 rushes for 48 yards in the game's first half, but only once in four attempts in the second half. The Eagles led 13-0 after one quarter, but even the strong winds couldn't help Brown.

Viking comeback in the second half set the stage for the Eagles. The Eagles led 13-0 heading into the final quarter and after compiting all of those points in the first quarter. But without momentum, the Eagles fell to 3-2.

SPLS standings

For the Federal Way Eagles, it's bounding about nothing short of a return to the playoffs. For Thursday, it's bouncing about nothing short of a return to the playoffs.

Puyallup started on the better side of the score, 13-12, but built its final 20-19 victory by Puyallup stepped to the front of the scoreboard and overtook an apparent victory for the Eagles.

Thursday's meat with the Clover Park Warriors was the classic combination. On both sides, there will be a game to play.

Winners: Sumner, 26-13; Gig Harbor, 18-13; Yelm, 14-7; Federal Way, 13-7; Rainier, 9-0.

Sports fisherman set Oct. 9 meeting

The Decatur Gators, Coach Kevin Runnells' second team, will meet in a city league championship game Oct. 9.

Coach Runnells said his football team is unbeatable, and he'll take it to the next level. The Gators won a city league game Oct. 2 at Covell Field in Columbia, 7-0.

The Ducks couldn't get anything going offensively, and both teams finished 1-0. The Ducks scored 7-0 in the first half, but couldn't build on it.

The Gators scored 13 points in the second half, but were held to 1-0 in the third quarter.

This week, the Gators stay on the road when they travel to Mississippi.
Lancers explode as Gators suffer 28-6 loss

By Pat Jenkins
The Vashon High School football coach Greg Flynn was pleased after his team's conference-opening win over Lakes.

"I feel like we played well enough that we deserved to win," Flynn said. "The kids came out and did what we asked them to do. They played well enough that we could handle Lakes."

Flynn said the 28-6 win was a boost to his team's morale.

"I feel like this game sets us up for the next few weeks," Flynn said. "I feel like we've got a team that can play well enough to win the league."

Wayside’s new building will be dream come true

Chairman of the Funds Drive is F. Fred Theimer, and the members of his Project Executive Committee are

- John D. Sheehan, President- Reader's Digest
- William E. Havens, Secretary of Interior
- Frank B. Halsey, Secretary of Health
- Harry S. Truman, President of American Medical Association
- John F. Kennedy, President of the United States
- Lyndon B. Johnson, Vice President of the United States

"Wayside Grows to Meet the Needs of the People," said Mr. Theimer, "and we are proud to have been able to provide this much needed facility for midwest consumers of gas, oil, and electricity."
A house with rooms for every need

The master bedroom opens onto the deck and a mood-setting view. The columns here are soft blue and natural oak; the wood floor is hardwood against a carpet. The bedroom has a walk-in closet with a built-in dresser, drawers, and a mirror. The master bath is a delight with both a tub and shower. A huge oak vanity has room for everything! (Two bedrooms, two bathrooms.)

The tour of this floor ends in the laundry room, after a climb up to the lowest level. Here sliding glass doors open onto a patio.
