Traders barter for bank and services

by Ann Hagen

Sitting down at a well-worn property on First Avenue, Vera Hoffman puts her fingers to the slick old time lemon and begins to play. The musician’s union in Spokane, she said, would have trouble recognizing her if they saw her now. She’s been a musician for a long time.

Vera Hoffman’s main instrument is an upright piano. With her dark blonde hair barely visible under a white hat, she plays on her right side, with her left hand holding a long piece of paper that contains her address and the names of the people she has traded services with.

"I feel honored," she said, "to have been a musician all my life."

Vera Hoffman’s name is listed in the phone book of the King County Office of Aging, along with other volunteers who help senior citizens obtain services they might not otherwise be able to get.

"The government isn’t always helpful to people who need help," she said. "Some people need more help than others. It’s important to help them all.

Vera Hoffman is a resident of Algona and a lifelong member of the musician’s union in Spokane. She said she heard about the barter system from her neighbor, and she has been a volunteer for the last 10 years.

"I enjoy helping people," she said. "It’s important to me to help others.

School Board head reviews past, looks to future

John Hickman

School Board chairman John Hickman said the board’s meeting last Thursday was a "productive session" and that the district’s philosophy of education has allowed Federal Way to maintain a "high level of achievement".

"The board is committed to providing a quality education for all students," he said. "We must do everything possible to ensure that all students are successful.

Hickman said the board is currently reviewing curriculum and course offerings, and that the district is "comparing the education it provides to other districts in the state and the nation."}

Voluntary participation is key to making the barter system work, he said. "We must remain open to suggestions from the public and work to improve the educational system," he said.

Can't we be normal?

When Diana Newton, a second grade teacher at Wood-land Elementary in Federal Way, asked her students to write an essay for the homeroom ambassador, most of them focused on the fun of Christmas.

"Dear Iran," wrote one student. "Please let our peo- ple go. How long will it take? Their family(sic) miss them. Is it fair to expect the schools to do something for them? Would you please? I think that's what I said.

"Dear Iran," wrote another student. "I wanted to write a letter to the Iranian government. I think that's what I said.

Martin, the hard-working principal at Federal Way's Thomas Jefferson High School, told me several years ago that some of his students wouldn't be allowed to have a traditional Christmas dinner this year. A lot of them had been tossed out of their parents' homes, he said, and they had been forbidden to see them.

"Dear Iran," wrote one student. "If you could make a choice, and you said that you would be kind to God."

But the brand of religion that seems to dominate the halls is a mixture of the carnal and the parochial; the students are allowed to have a Christmas dinner at school every year. Martin said, "We don't make our own decorations out of paper and tin and things, and we limit some things in the cafeteria, and then we all get along just fine.

"Dear Iran," wrote one student. "You should join us, Lorene," he said. "You should come over. We have Christmas dinner with us. We'll be having ham and turkey, and you'll be able to meet the teachers and most of the school students.

"Dear Iran," wrote another student. "The last time I went there, I told my mother I wanted to be kind to God, and I didn't want that."

On board the Virginia V

A trip on the steamship Virginia V is one of the many ways that Puget Sound area residents can celebrate the holidays or any other occasion and get a good look at the sound in the bargain.

The ship's cruises are usually limited to a few hours, but sometimes the vessel goes all the way to Vancouver, B.C., for overnight excursions.

And once the Virginia V has cleared the government locks at Ballard, there's an unusual view of the Seattle waterfront and the many islands that are in the vicinity.

The cruise on which these photos were taken was scheduled to raise money that will go into maintaining the 57-year-old ship, or as an advertisement said, to "keep up the steam" in her 80-year-old engine.

Tickets were bought by 179 persons at $8 apiece for this Dec. 16 journey, around Bainbridge Island and eventually back to the Seattle moorage.

As a result, the Virginia V, which has been designated by the U. S. government as a national historical site, now boasts an additional $1,432 in her maintenance fund.

The ship, the last steam-powered passenger craft on local waters, is docked at the Fishermen's Terminal in Seattle. Reservations are available by telephoning 282-8787.

Boeing HQ rezone, heli pad approved

By Darlene Hincklomp

The Port of Seattle has been asked by Boeing to approve a rezone for 30 acres on the westside of the airport

The approval would allow Boeing to build its headquarters on five of the 30 acres on the condition that during the campaign contributions to the council were not received. (One of the campaign contributions, $500, was received by the council."

A recent announcement by Joe Dixie Lee Ray stating that $15,379 had been made available to help eligible families in Federal Way during the holidays. The money will be used to help eligible families for a limited time period.

The article states that the money is available for those whose incomes fall below the Federal Poverty Level. The Federal Poverty Level is determined based on family size, income, and living expenses. Families must meet specific criteria to be eligible for assistance.

The article also mentions that the money will be distributed through the Federal Way Emergency Assistance Program, which is currently working from a $1,000 budget. The center is given a two-month supply of money, and then it would be doled out according to need.

Eligibility is based on family size and income. For example, a family of four must have an income of $8,375 or less. For each additional family member, $275 can be added.

Once grants are received, the money is placed in a reserve and the center is given a two-month supply of money. The money is then distributed based on the federal poverty level.

The Federal Way center is currently working from a $1,000 budget. The money is available on a first-come, first-served basis. The center is open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

The Federal Way center is located at 3264 S.W. 350th St., Federal Way, WA 98003.

Juror recalls murder trial

Jack Fernoe, who wears a .45 caliber handgun in a shoulder holster as a matter of course, went to the White Center home of his wife's former husband after the man's wife called and said the man was beating his children.

As Fernoe came up the walkway, Ron Estabrook came to the door and threw a glass bowl at him. Poole said because the testimony of such witnesses as the county medical examiner stated Estabrook had been drinking and because he threw the bowl rather than talking, "you felt he was the instigator of the dispute." The two men wrestled and scuf­ fled inside the house. Fernoe drew his gun and fired twice. Poole said there was inadequate evidence to prove it to the jury.

"The fabric of testimony was replete with holes, as was the prosecution's case against a 35-year old West Seattle shipfetter, ac­ cused of second-degree manslaughter.

"Femeau followed him and fired a bullet that this is the bullet that entered his chest as he ran. It was a hot day and a man had sunburn. Late in the evening of the July 14 shooting, Poole remembered, however, that "police said Estabrook was not cooperative when they came out for the dispute. She had contradictory testimony." Poole, who works for a major international company, said she enjoyed jury duty but was "scared" by the Estabrook family. When Estabrook fled the house, Poole said, the dead man's family told one story and the jury's sympathies enough to save Femeau from a long stretch in the state prison. "We feel (Estabrook) was so involved in the assault. He was drunk, in all likelihood. He was terrible when drunk and I believe he initiated the assault." In the end, the Jury was accustomed to. Flood pumping closes 312th

The case was settled out of court in early September, but the problems have not evaporated. Syferd said there is a second house involved in the flooding, a home that is on neighboring land and threatened by the rising waters.

"We agreed with the second owner to allow him to protect from flood. Syferd said.

Now the county is obligated to close South 312th and pump the water from the Teabo property to divert flooding from the adjacent land.

Some Motorists were not pleased with the situation. Harry Rose, a Crash Point resident, said the county was raising water from a private residence.

"There's a lot of people who use that street. I could see closing a side street, but nobody wants to commute to 320th. It doesn't make sense," he said.

Larry Gibbons, south section supervisor for county hydraulics, said the county has no intention of doing anything other than keep at it until it's no longer a problem to the other house," he said.

Gibbons added that there are plans to prevent future flooding in the future if the future few years are possible to relieve the pumping of water. South 312th, he said.

Then, there the alternative is to pump it over.

Holiday spirit

Reflected at children’s party

by Ann Hagen

In a small partitioned room at Northlake Elementary School, the Federal Way School District’s Early Childhood Development Unit, a group of bright-eyed youngsters sat in a circle singing holiday tunes.

"Now, when we go to the part about Rudolph's shiny nose, let's all squeeze our nose," said high school senior, Debbie Morgan, sitting nearby in the seven-seated circle.

The children, who were no lack of response and nary a bored face in the group as the youngsters followed her with motions and gestures through Rudolph's Christmas Eve excursion.

"It takes a lot of patience," said Tracy Voll, sitting next to a little girl who looked comfortably asleep.

A group of Decatur home economics students organized an hour of games, treats and crafts for the 46 children who attend daily classes at the school at 3406 S. 336th.

Many of the children are mildly retarded, afflicted with Down's syndrome, and some need special attention for communication difficulties. There is also a class of non-handicapped preschoolers who are included as role models.

The children’s ages range from three to 12, though their physical capabilities are included as role models.

The thought and care that went into making the party a success: "We tried to design activities that were easy to understand so that the children would have fun," said Debbie, who is considering teaching handicapped children in her future.

Children played pin the tail on the Christmas tree, hit out sugar cookies from prepared dough while singing Christmas songs and accompanied themselves on musical instruments as they sang holiday tunes.

The home economics students spent two weeks in class plus preparation at home in preparation, but they say it's been well worth the effort.

After the fun, children were treated to homemade peanut butter cookies, fudge and punch. They were easy to understand so that little verbally, the expression on their faces reflected their genuine delight.

Cathi Baggett, Early Childhood Unit supervisor said the children really look forward to parties.

"It's a good chance for the children and students to better understand one another," she said.

Important in another way, she said parties help the community become aware of the needs of the handicapped.

"These children are human beings," she said warmly, her devotion to them obvious in every word. "They have the same needs as everybody else."

THE GAMES REFLECTED THE CHILDREN'S POINT to their noses as they prepare to sing along with a Rudolph song.

Silent alarm alerts police: K-9 dog nabs youthful burglars

A 17-year-old Federal Way man and a 15-year-old Hollywood, Calif., youth were arrested for investigation of the burglary of a King County residence earlier.

The youth was taken to the Federal Way Police Station, and the dog located and the youth was arrested.

Nearly $1,500 worth of meat from a meat shop and tools were taken in a break-in of the Associated General Contractors' office on Wednesday, Dec. 26, in the 3060 block of Pacific Highway South.

The K-9 unit was sent in to locate the suspects after a 3:30 a.m. report of a burglary.

Other thefts included exhibits ranging from the area of the Pacific Science Center's "Supermarket" exhibit to King County Jail.

Sometimes 55 mph is too fast, says expert

Darwick, who in addition to his LACP duties is also a director of the Safe Winter Driving League, headquartered in Chicago, reviewed recent research and driving techniques.

As an affirmative answer to such a question from a national enforcement authority might be expected, Norman Darwick, executive director of the International Association of Chiefs of Police, pointed out that when snow or ice is present, drivers often have to slow down to maintain control.

"The speed of only 20 miles an hour, for example, is the distance to stop an automobile on an icy road," he said.

"Drivers often fail to reduce their speed in response to such adverse conditions and, as a result, are involved in collisions," Darwick said.

He noted that motorists have had unprecedented winter problems during last winter's storms, which he described as a "perfect storm." The storm caused widespread traffic disruptions and accidents, and it made driving conditions more hazardous.

"Motorists are urged to act according to the conditions of the road and weather," Darwick said.

"They should maintain a safe stopping distance from other vehicles, and they should be alert for slippery patches that may be the result of a recent snowfall or slush," he said.

Max gas tax to continue

WASHINGTON (AP) - The state's proposed tax to add 12 cents per gallon to gasoline during the first six months of 1980 is to be voted on by the Senate Transportation Committee and Transit Task Force December 26.

The task force chamber is set to offer a 10-cent increase in the state's existing 18-cent gasoline tax on January 1, 1980, in line with a similar tax increase in California.
Snyder reassigns three in school reorganization

Three assignments in the organization of the Federal Way School District have been made by Superintendent Snyder during a special board meeting last Thursday.

Named as maims in the district operation of the Federal Way School District are Assistant Superintendent Snyder during a special consultation meeting with classroom learning.

Woodworth has served as assistant superintendent for the past two and one-half years. Woodworth will succeed assistant superintendent in the district. He has a thorough knowledge of the district's program.

Woodworth, who has taught at the junior high level in both California and South Carolina, served in many capacities, including as assistant superintendent for Federal Way High's special services, as a procedural specialist in the special services department, as assistant superintendent for the federal district, and as assistant superintendent for Federal Way High's special services.

Chargers end Ram string despite Fickes' tallies

Buchholz cited two factors in the Chargers' win over the Rams. They were the absence of guard Craig Maley, Rencher and Dan Ernissee, the coach Merle Duncan. The Gators, despite their own injuries or drifting on their way inside the Ram defense, having several key players out with 2:23 left in the fourth quarter the score was 10-11. The two squads fought evenly until midway through the third period, when Fickes stole an inbounds pass and scored to give the Rams a 17-16 lead. The two squads fought

Loss to Lakes ups Gator hoop hopes

by Jon Burcholtz

It wasn't an artistic game, but Carl Burcholtz, coach of the Decatur Gators, third place team in the Puget Sound League, was happy with the win over the Lakes Lancers 35-9.

In fact, it wasn't even a win. Lakes in December 35-9.

Burcholtz, like most coaches, is the first to say his team played better overall last month in the third quarter. The Gators were called for travels twice on Rameginning of the game away from Mt. Rainier in the 135 class but should be down in the 120 category by the next time. The

Raider cagers rebound to beat Sumner

by Kevin Patterson

Patterson had taken a chapter from the December 35-9, and it didn't help his team. Thomas Jefferson, Sumner, a 22-point deficit into an 11-point lead, put Sumner away with 43-26.

The Raiders turned the game around with a late third-quarter run to cut the lead to seven. A three-point shot ended the period, and ended the quarter trailing by only two points at that.

The lead soon-was until midway through the fourth quarter when the Lancers went on a four-minute 2-15 run, before forcing the final point to make the score 41-26.

Burcholtz said the Gators had to start faster against Sumner.

Chokers stop GR win streak

The Green River Community College women's basketball team was knocked out of the South Puget Sound League record when they lost to Mt. Rainier 23-6. The Chokers had a home game with 3-1.

Ficker's game-high 23 points kept Rainier in the game, but the Chargers came back in the second half and two pressure free throws by Mt. Rainier's Erika Benfield with 20 seconds remaining sealed the Rainier fate. Mt. Rainier finishes the season 7-8 for the South Puget Sound League.

Buchholz said, "We weren't getting enough pressure on him. The Rams had a good all-around game. We just didn't play very well. We weren't working the ball around as a team."

Buchholz said, "We weren't getting enough pressure on him. The Rams had a good all-around game. We just didn't play very well. We weren't working the ball around as a team."

Ficker's game-high 23 points kept Rainier in the game, but the Chargers came back in the second half and two pressure free throws by Mt. Rainier's Erika Benfield with 20 seconds remaining sealed the Rainier fate. Mt. Rainier finishes the season 7-8 for the South Puget Sound League.

Your Money

by John Warner, Jr.

As we all know, the government collects capital gains taxes on a wide variety of our investment gains. These gains are the result of selling bonds, stocks, or similar assets. When you sell bonds, you have to pay capital gains tax on the difference between the price you sold them for and the price you bought them for.

In the case of a bond at a price lower than you paid, the difference between the price you paid and the price you received is considered a loss. If you sell the bond at a price lower than you paid, you may be able to use this loss to offset other income you have.

In order to claim a loss, you need to be able to prove that you actually sold the bond at a price lower than you paid. This can be done by keeping records of your purchases and sales of bonds. If you keep good records, you can be sure that you will be able to prove your losses to the IRS.

You should also keep track of any other gains or losses you have made from investing in bonds. This will help you to determine your overall tax liability.

In summary, it is important to keep your records of bond purchases and sales in order to be able to claim losses on your capital gains taxes. By doing so, you may be able to lower your tax liability and keep more of your hard-earned money.

So far, navigators have set sail into the New Year.

DES MOINES yachtsmen hold a special New Year's wrap-up each year. This time it's a sit-down dinner for 160.

With half of the season's festivities behind us, there remains that one last, big bash of the year. However, it doesn't mean rushing into the next decade with complicated party plans that may leave you worn out by the stroke of midnight. Make it easy on yourself.

That's how the Des Moines Yacht Club members feel about their New Year's Eve dinner dance for 160 party goers. "We wanted something nice, simple and inexpensive," said Nancy Mann. Mrs. Mann and her husband, Jim, the club's rear commodore, are in charge of the 24 member entertainment committee.

Instead of a buffet, the committee planned a sit-down dinner for this year's party. "We wanted to serve the dinner in style," Mrs. Mann explained. "Each course will be served separately."

The festive menu includes: a seaworthy Crevette Salade a la Diable (shrimp salad), Jambon a la Bourguignonne (baked ham burgundy), Pomme de Terre Persilee (parsley potatoes), Petit Pols Vert a la Allemande (cream peas) and Creme de Menthe Pie.

To prepare the simply elegant fare, Mrs. Mann said the committee will divide up the first preparation and make some of the meals in their own homes, since the club's kitchen cannot handle a large group.

Many of these dishes can be prepared ahead of time, such as the 25 pies, salad greens and potatoes, which give the members plenty of time to prepare for the party.

"We'll decorate and set up the tables the day before," Mrs. Mann said. "Then we'll meet again early Monday to prepare the last minute foods, and have everything ready before dinner time at 7:30 p.m."

Club member's children will serve the meal, leaving the parents time to kick off their shoes and enjoy the new year's merriment.

On a smaller scale, this type of planning with simple, do-ahead foods can help the individual host or hostess relax with a small group of friends as well.

Plan a progressive dinner - French country - inn style

One night you can try the grand host to your "establishment" - and next two other fine "dines" as a good prelude. It's all part of a hand-crafted, intimate, and very busy schedule.

Schedules.

Cover and bake in preheated 350-degree oven for two hours. Serve hot. Serve a salad of crisp endives and Julienned carrots tossed with a creamy dressing, and a large green salad for your "restaurant" to prepare. These follow travelers stopping by with travelers stopping by.

The more you cook in advance of a party, the breathing room you'll have. Of course, the more time that you can use to check the mood.

记录 to set the buffet but you're in an ebb and flow mood. Stir in very little time and the boba is an excellent way to use up leftover ham.

HAM FRIEDNUTS (Yield: 8 servings)

1 cup yellow corn meal
2 cups water
2 eggs, beaten
1 cup milk

Combine well, mix and heat.

1 tablespoon olive oil
2 cups one-and-a-half cups regular or instant mashed potatoes
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon pepper

Add the onion powder and pepper. Stir until thickened and clear. Serve hot with Apple Syrup Sauce.

Apple Syrup Sauce: Melt five tablespoons butter or margarine in large skillet. Add four cups siced, peeled, and thinly-sliced golden apples. Stir in 4 tablespoons sugar, 1 cup apple juice, and 1 teaspoon cinnamon. Cook, stirring occasionally, until mixture thickens. Stir in one tablespoon butter or margarine. Add 1 cup apricot preserves. Spoon softened apricot preserves on Salmon-Camembert Pate.

Camembert Pate, Fritons make an excellent way to use up leftover ham.

One and two-thirds cups cooked ham.

Serve hot with Apple Syrup Sauce.

When chili is a cold, wet day, and you make it like you do on a hot day, it gets too hot. But naturally I don't like it.

Holiday Appetizer-Salad

Ingredients:
- 1 medium-size head iceberg lettuce
- 1 can (13-oz) tomatoes
- 4 hard-cooked eggs
- 1 tablestep real mayonnaise
- 1 tsp mustard

Instructions:
1. Chop lettuce into "rafts" (cross-cut slices), leaving a narrow margin of tomato slices.
2. There's gold about to be dug up in a heap of white containers of different sizes, a part of the present wealth of this Holiday Appetizer.
3. The Bozzy flavor applied to this boat of chowder, and the rest is in the dressing you spoon over the raft in generous amounts.

Serve the chilled raft for a light appetizer meal of the day has been particularly hearty and filling.

Note: Set out for French-style croissant rolls and butter or a selection of crunchy crackers. Coffee, or

Tea bread is named after colonial shop girl

The following recipe for "Sally Lunn" from the new cookbook has appeared in many cookbooks beginning with the "Gold Medal Flour Cook Book" of the early 1900s.

SALLY LUNN

Yield: 16 servings

- 2 packages active dry yeast
- 1/4 cup warm water (105 to 115 degrees)
- 3 cups lukewarm milk (scalded then cooled)
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 2 eggs
- 1/4 cup shortening
- 5 cups all-purpose flour

Dissolve yeast in warm, water in large mixing bowl. Stir in remaining ingredients. Beat until smooth. Cover; let rise in warm place until double, about one hour.

Stir down batter by beating about 25 strokes. Spread in greased tube pan, 10x4-inches. Let rise to within one inch of top of pan, about 45 minutes.

In preheated 350-degree oven bake for 45 to 50 minutes until loaf is golden brown and crusty. Remove from pan.
Here's a cake with a magic formula.

Ingredients: A package cake mix, the balance of the gelatin is added cold to the milk, and the remainder is used in the creamy frosting and the fluted glass. 8 0.0 L. L. STRAWBERRY CAKE

Prepare cake mix as directed on package, adding three and one-half tablespoons of the gelatin in the milk before baking; bake in two 8-inch layer pans. Cool cake in pans 10 minutes; then remove from pans and finish cooling on cake racks.

Frost sides of cake with strawberry flavor gelatin in boiling syrup to measured temperature to stand at room temperature to thicken. Blend well. Blend gelatin-strawberry flavorful topping; spread between cake layers. Spread gelatin-strawberry flavored topping; spread between cake layers.

Chill remaining gelatin until slightly thickened. Add all ingredients with remaining whipped topping, stirring until blended. Chill until mixture holds shape. Form into mounds on a round platter. Garnish with strawberry flavor gelatin in boiling syrup to measured temperature to stand at room temperature to thicken.

GLAZED HOLIDAY SALAD
(Stuffed Pumpkins)
2 heads iceberg lettuce
2 cups green raisins
5 cups chopped pineapple
6 bottled or canned cherries
6 chopped dates
2 cups poultry
20 green onions
2 cups slivered almonds
1 envelope white gelatin
1-1/2 cups water
1/4 cup lemon juice
1/2 cup sugar
1 cup chopped walnuts

Ingredients:
2 cups diced celery
1/2 cup slivered almonds

Method:
1. Line large shallow baking pan with celery. Fill with baked stuffing. Place in refrigerator to chill.
3. Mix gelatin, sugar, and wine, stirring until smooth. Chill until thick.
4. Add nuts and beat until mixture is thoroughly chilled.
5. Pour over stuffing and let stand at room temperature until thickened.
6. Serve on lettuce leaf or chilled

Serves: 10-12

Note: Gelatin should be dissolved over simmering water; do not prepare over direct heat, as gelatin will curdle.

Pudding-Wiches-Will surprise youngsters

When youngsters arrive with their parents on a visit, it's good to know you have something delicious ready to serve. Best of all is a frozen snack. Fix Pudding-Wiches. Just reach in a freezer and let them eat them immediately. You can make 12 of these from 3-ounces of pudding and 1 envelope whipped cream topping with one-half cup milk as directed on the package. Add one cup milk along with one package (4-serving size) instant pudding and pie filling, any flavor, (chocolate, butterscotch, vanilla, etc.) Occasionally spoon filling about one-half inch thick on 13 graham crackers or chocolate wafers. Top each with another cracker or wafer, pressing lightly and smoothing edges with spatula. Freeze until firm, about three hours. Wrap individual sandwiches in plastic. Store for storage. Youngsters love this snack and remember them pudding mix treat.

Watch for GREEN T-BONE SPECIALS throughout our store—in fresh quality meats and produce, dairy, frozen foods and on our grocery shelves. They mean extra savings for you!

Area men study under WICHE

Two area men are among 30 Washington residents participating in a cooperative interstate exchange program developed by governors and legislatures of the 13 western states.

Both men, Mark Wedekind, Auburn, and James Walley, Federal Way, are citizens age 55 or older. For details, contact 244-3686.

Stress

Stress without distress

Stress without distress during the holidays is the subject of a Wednesday class at the Highline Junior Center, 1210 S.W. 14th Ave., Dick Maske, elderly specialist with the Highline Community Mental Health Center, will conduct workshops at 10 a.m. on both techniques and relaxation techniques.

This is just one of many classes at the center.

On Thursdays at 10 a.m., M. M. Klop, audiologist with the North West Hospital Speech and Hearing Center, teaches a class in upgrading past communication skills for those with hearing loss.

On Mondays and Fridays at 10 a.m., Kay Osborne, a nutritionist and others have started the 13 western states. The students are received in Washington and offer optometry at Washington State University.

Washington schools received $613,000 more than the program's standard tuition at public institutions or one-third the cost at the program's standard tuition at private schools, while the state legislatures appropriated money to cover part of the cost of their education. Washington colleges have received $325,000 from the program and $1.08 million from the state colleges. Washington schools would have received $550,000 less.

The University of Washington and Washington State University received a total of $23,732 to support the private schools of Ozaukee University and the University of Puget Sound received $32,732. A total of $83,689 more than the program's standard tuition at public institutions.

Scout earns honor

Adrian Jenkins, a member of Post 355 sponsored by the Federal Way Fire Department, was awarded his Eagle Scout award at a Court of Honor held Dec. 16.

Jenkins, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Jenkins of 2703 Third Ave. S., has been an active member of the Troop 333 since his the edge of the lawn and the evergreen edging between placement of a center. He has participated in several scouting activities, including campment "7H in Portland Ore. In the summer of 1977, the post made 425 miles, which they took on a backpacking, 420-mile trip down the Columbia River with their families on their own.

For his Eagle project, he organized placement of 6 feet of concrete dividing the edge of the lawn and the evergreen plantings at The Federal Way 1300 Church.

Adrian is a junior at Federal Way High School, a former "Troop 333" in elementary school and is employed part-time at a local restaurant.

Church commissions Nelson

Dan Nelson is commissioned by the Church of Christ Fellowship, Federal Way. The church has officially recognized Don and Val Nelson as missionaries to the youth of Federal Way. Remaining one to the Federal Way area following graduation from the Conservative Baptist Seminary in Denver, Colorado, Don will be Youth for Christ-Campus Life offers a weekly home meeting where students of many church denominations or no church relationship meet to discuss student issues. These topics may include sex, or peer pressure. The Campus Life staff concludes the limitations dimension by explaining Biblical principles that relate to student issues. Many other activities and services make the program of Campus Life in Federal Way.

Libraries will open on Sunday

Beginning Jan. 8, four normal locations—Bunten, Burien, Shoreline and Federal Way—will be open from 1 to 6 p.m. on Sundays. Other information: Bellevue Library will be open from 9 to 1 p.m. for several hours for several Sundays. For more information call the office. Burke Grlswold, deputy librarian for public services, said: "We are trying to reach those people who are working people and families. It is possible to improve hours and social patterns in suburban communities. It will particularly benefit students who need access to research materials over the weekend and adults who want to visit the library with their children. All normal library services, including check out of books, periodicals and more, acceptance of donations and inter-library loan requests, will be available. However, check out and return of films is not planned until the level of Sunday library usage can be increased.

Scouts collect papers

The Boy Scouts are doing it again! Changing oil newspapers in to hamburgers. Feb. 3 and 4 Saturday and Sunday are the dates of the annual newspaper drive for the Cloud Council. The scouts hope to recycle 100 tons of old newspapers. They are going to the proceeds to support camps, facilities such as camp­pines for Indian scouts, and the boy scout's own council. The scouts also want to reduce the number of newspapers lost.

According to Kirby Cochran, there is an average of three丢失 every 5 feet of old newspapers that anyone brings in they will receive a "Thank you!" from McDougal.

For information call the drive and for the most convenient location call the scout and they can pick up.

Qualified personnel needed for hearing impaired classes

Qualified substitute teachers and teacher aides are needed to work with hearing impaired students at Valley View Elementary School in the event that a teacher is absent from work. Applicants must be capable of working with a total communication program, orally as well as in sign language.

Interested personnel should contact the School Principal, 2605 Old Capitol Building, P.O. Box 1245, Olympia, WA 98504.

Classes focus on business

The University of Puget Sound's Seattle campus credit program will offer winter term classes in the Seattle-King County area focusing on business aspects of the management process. The course will cover legal regulations necessary for managers to administer and control. Daly's firm of Short, associate with the law firm of Cressman and Cable, will conduct a graduate course in the legal aspects of the management process.

Interested personnel should contact the Seattle-King County Parents' International for Hearing Impaired Children, 343 17th Ave. S., Seattle. The course is open to parents and others interested in learning about the legal aspects of the management process.

Course on parenting offered

"Parenting," a new, Red Cross course designed to help parents understand a child's emotional and physical environment, to establish a healthy growth, is now available through the Seattle-King County Red Cross. The course will cover the following areas: counting information, nutrients, and systems to the solution of management problems in business.

Registration for all winter term courses will continue through Friday, Jan. 10, at the U.P.S.-Seattle campus at 2515 S. Holgate St.

Classes are scheduled from 10 a.m. to noon Tuesdays, Feb. 5 through March 25, also at headquarters. The course, which concentrates on parenting of the child from birth to two years of age, will cover "Preparation for Parenthood," a course for expectant parents.

The course emphasizes parental discussion in a relaxed atmosphere under the guidance of a trained group leader. Topics to be covered include the meaning of parenthood, nutrition and health, socialization, physical growth and development, language development, and promotion of intellectual growth.

The course, which is offered twice a year, is open to all parents of children ages 2 to 6. The fee is $2 for a workbook. Information on program may be submitted to the Federal Way School District, 1410 S. 200th St., Federal Way.
