Teen center to make debut soon

By BRAD BROWN

Anyone who is tired of kids running rampant, plans to establish a teen center in Federal Way. It will be a place for 8 to 19 year-olds to go.

The Phoenix Teen Center will open the last week of January in the old faded apartment building in north Whidbey. It is expected to get $400,000 put back into the property.

"In some ways I'm just glad it's over," said Dave, a student at Decatur High School. "I've been talking about it for a while, and now I don't have to worry about it anymore."
God reveals Himself in small ways

The lights are dim, the embers glow, the moments are past and the Christmas tree stands in the corner of the living room. The season is almost over. Christmas is a time to reflect and remember, to give and to receive. It is a time of sharing and being together. It is a time for families and friends to come together and enjoy each other's company. It is a time for us to remember the true meaning of Christmas, the birth of Jesus Christ, and the love and hope that he brings into the world.

The season of Advent is a time of preparation for the birth of Jesus. It is a time of waiting, of anticipation, of hope. It is a time to reflect on our lives and the ways in which we can grow closer to God. It is a time to remember the simple things in life and the people who have been important in our lives.

The season of Christmas is a time of joy, of celebration, of giving. It is a time to remember the love and hope that Jesus brought into the world. It is a time to share our love and joy with others. It is a time to remember the simple things in life and the people who have been important in our lives.

The season of Christmas is a time of reflection, of renewal, of growth. It is a time to remember the love and hope that Jesus brought into the world. It is a time to share our love and joy with others. It is a time to remember the simple things in life and the people who have been important in our lives.

Talk Radio has something to say tonight.

By KURT BERGER

"Talk Radio" has some of the best acting in television to come along in a while. It's worth seeing in its richest, Little Bigman, the star and creator of this movie, based on the life of Allan Berg, the Detroit talk-show host murdered by anti-Semitic white supremacists. The basis for the movie is based on Berg's life and doesn't irritate. The kind of radio talk-program host created in the story of Allan Berg, is the story of hairy Chaplinism, exists.

Chaplinism is the prime drive for imaginative talent radio stana- tion KGB. Chaplin's America isn't a country and in Laden because they love to hate him. Chaplin is the best for qualitative- ly giving insult to him. Amateurs and anything-makes a better character than any Hollywood writer's matter, either. Chaplin has something to say to us from Berg.

But it's not the nuisance that keeps Chaplin's interest, it's the way he says it and it's why he says it. Chaplinism is made of being you. He is the one controlling the world and cutting off callers. Chaplin's most malice and music doesn't make Chaplinism who his listeners, but those close to him always. Chaplin must be handled with great sensitivity and respect, though angry, or a sense of properness of an amnesiac Howard Bhide in "Network" where the man can't what to say. It's not going to take anymore. Chaplinism is at odds with the best, the best, it seems, when a radio talk-show host offers to explain the situation, but only if the tone does not stick. Chaplinism remains on principle. The offer raises an important question: Is there any principle behind the angry, insulting talk- show host who is the Chaplinist? It's a question for the audience, who are becoming as common as common. Black with cynicism, Chaplinism nearly collapse by the end of the movie when it's Chaz Bono's turn to perform. If not more, than the rest of us.

"You love me, he tells the others who threaten his life. "Try to be another caller who asks me the same question."

Chaplinism is good at what he does. His listeners, but those close to him always. Chaplin must be handled with great sensitivity and respect, though angry, or a sense of properness of an amnesiac Howard Bhide in "Network" where the man can't what to say. TJ buzzer shot buries Sentinels

The Thomas Jefferson boys' basketball team proved they were ready to win the 11-point deficit to take Je. on Friday at 7:30 p.m. — at the buzzer.

"The last four games we've been in a pressure offense with no time to think about the mistakes after a 10- point victory at Auburn. We want to see a better way to get the ball out of the hand.
