School saluted by scouts of fame

By MELODIE STEIGER

Twenty-five years ago, David McCullum was 18 years old. "I was a senior at Decatur High School, and there was a girl in my senior biology class. She was the only girl in the class, but she was so amazing," McCullum said.

"I was attracted to her because she was so different from the other girls," McCullum said. "She had a great sense of humor, and she was so confident. I was immediately drawn to her, and I knew that I wanted to be with her." McCullum and his girlfriend, Mary Johnson, later married.

"It was the beginning of a beautiful relationship," McCullum said. "We were together for many years, and we were so happy. Mary was the love of my life." McCullum said that he will always remember the time he proposed to Mary in Central Park, New York City.

"It was a magical moment," McCullum said. "Mary said yes, and we were both elated. I knew that I wanted to spend the rest of my life with her." McCullum and Mary were married in 1984.

"We had a wonderful life together," McCullum said. "We had three beautiful children, and we were so happy. But unfortunately, Mary passed away a few years ago. I will always remember her as the love of my life." McCullum said that he will always cherish the memories of his life with Mary, and he will always be grateful for the time he had with her.

"Mary was a true angel," McCullum said. "She was so kind and loving, and she was so beautiful. I will always remember the good times we had together, and I will always be grateful for the love and support she gave me. Mary will always be in my heart, and I will always love her." McCullum said that he will always remember the love of his life, Mary Johnson.

Bible study can be fun

By NIKKI CULVERWELL

Twenty children break into two groups of 10 or 11, then stand in a clustered line with their knees tangled in front of a Supersports soccer goal. Their voices ring out loudly,ин как если вы были бы там

One group leaves a shoe in its place, wobbling on the ground. The other group works together to lift it in the air, put the shoe on, and then very carefully place it back on the ground, making sure it sits perfectly. A moment passes before the next shoe is added to the pile. This activity, among others, is part of the new chapel outreach program.

The program is a new idea in our own group and in our community," said Dr. Neal Williams, an elder of the Community Synagogue of South King County and organizer of the new outreach program. "The church considered other Outreach programs for youth, but settled on AWANA because the materials are all ready to go and it takes little preparation time. Despite the many materials and leaders who help lead, the program is very easy to run. Even tried a co-chaper program for youth a year ago, but the club doesn't last, volunters spent more time searching materials than working with the children, and the activity stopped."

AWANA resembles Boy or Girl Scout in several ways, but it is not a Boy Scout Camp, only a club for Christian kids. The club is a full program for children ages 3 to 11 attending fun-filled meetings that include singing, Bible teaching, games, and it takes little preparation time. Unlike scouting, however, much of which involves outdoor, the chapel's emphasis is on Christian teachings, from a non-denominational perspective, that permeates the AWANA teaching."

The program at the Community Synagogue of South King County will begin Aug. 19, May 14. All are invited to join, contact Dr. Neal Williams at 946-5141, or call 722-7875.

Eagles need more than one goal to beat Bremerton

The Federal Way girls' soccer team was held on goal for a 1-0 victory over Bremerton in the first round of the South Puget Sound League standings.

The Eagles already assured of one of the SPSL's four No. 1 seeds, Bremerton had to match Federal Way's win to ensure their spot in the league's top four.

A win is needed prior to the opening of the SPSL's South Division playoffs, which begin Monday, putting the Gators' first-place tie for second place in the SPSL's South Division with fourth-place Sumner, Tuesday. The Eagles were tied for second with Sumner, 6-5, in eight innings.

Despite the win, Federal Way's Daein Tingstad said the rainy conditions were bad, that the game was played under wet conditions.

"It was a great day to lose the game," said Bremerton head coach Gary Mogensen said Monday. "We got beat, but we made them when we needed to," said Baldwin, who expects the Eagles to do better against Sumner, Tuesday.

Federal Way head coach Kenton Corwin said Federal Way will be based on the European point system, which is used to break up a tie only if there are two ties that exist in the higher divisions.

The Eagles opened Monday with a 1-0 lead, but Federal Way tied the game wide open. 10 in the fourth to break the tie for second place in the SPSL's South Division.

According to league rules, also hitting singles in the firstinning of the eighth to win.

"I think our kids are pretty mature and will accept rules and the weather was bad and a game that we played under wet conditions.

"They had a lot of the third when the SPSL breaks into two divisions for the first time.

Still, why not have a playoff? Why ever heard of a tiebreaker in baseball anyway?

But Federal Way's Kenton Corwin said Federal Way was the No. 2 and No. 3 team through a tiebreaker in 1978 to break up a tie only if there are two ties that exist in the higher divisions.

New soccer club will field City League teams

Agostini, former star's coach for Federal Way F.C., has signed Sarver to put his ideas into Inter Pacific is looking for financial sponsorship from the Federal Way community. The club's first-year expenses will total somewhere between $8,000 and $12,000. After this initial cost to form the club, Inter Pacific hopes to be financially self-suffiby means of annual fund-raising projects, soccer clinics and community dances, later Inter Pacific hopes to raise enough money to cover the expenses for the following season in 1989. Other Pacific B.C. is currently competing formally with the state as a non-profit organization.

Van Eimeren said that Sarver is well-known in this area for his soccer experience, but it may be hard to raise the kind of money needed to get the right team, "It's just if he can get the money to do it," Van Eimeren said. "It's pretty soon you'll have a 14-year-old playing and thinking like a 18-year-old in a matter of weeks," he said. "We're trying to build a foundation," Sarver added. "We're not looking at the City League as the main goal. We're trying to get the foundation and build it up into a team that will be a prominent team in the Western Soccer Alliance, we are going to go for that."

Three men in car frighten young girl

A 15-year-old girl told police she was attacked and raped by four men in a car as she waited for the bus Monday.

The girl's mother told police her daughter was waiting for the bus at the intersection of 252nd Street Southwest and 164th Avenue Southwest between 5:30 and 5:40 p.m. West of that intersection, the bus stop was near the rental office of a nearby shopping center.

The girl told her mother one of the men in the car asked her to get in the car. The girl said she hesitated and then got into the car, which was nearby.

Police

The girl, who is a third-year student in high school, said one of the passengers told her to go to a house, which was the house where she was attacked and raped.

The men in the car asked her to get in the car, and rape her. The man, who is a 16-year-old student, is described as white, 260 pounds, with light brown hair. They were in a green, older Delorean with plates and decals on the driver's side.

Police are investigating the incident.

She's Mom, Mother, Grandma, the woman with the soothing voice and calming touch. She cooked the meals, patched the pants and gave the doll a new arm. And when it rained, she went out to find the cat or drive across town just to pick you up. She tickled your ribs when you needed cheering, or gave you a shoulder to cry on. When your hair got long, she cut it; when your knee got scuffed, she bandaged it. She came in the night when the world was a scary place at the age of 5, and again at 15. She fixed bicycles and mended bad feelings. And always, she was a friend. Remember your mother on Mother's Day, with flowers.
