New boundaries shuffle students

They explained, they offered support. They asked for support. That's what they offered. They asked for support.

The district office in Olympia navigation tool among all primary election candidates.

Watkins had raised $3,768 in each and every candidate's contributions through May. More recent reports of fund-raising activities were not yet available, but they were available through Campaign Contribution (TUC).

Watkins had worked all the campaign contributions in the amount of $2,886, according to campaign analyst with the Republican campaign.

Phil Watkins wasn't one of the top vote-getters in Position 7 in the May money raised and spent the leader in the amount of money spent with $3,703 spent the better known candidates apparently helped change that.

Watkins had raised $3,768 in the May elections ($15,000) and other parts of the facility. The names of the donors to attach their name to the Olympic-size pool ($1 million), the locker rooms ($100,000), small seating sections ($15,000) and other parts of the facility. The names of the donors ($60 to $1,000) will be listed on an "honors wall."

Watkins is at her best with the employees and volunteers say she is totally reliable and a hard worker," said Shirley Karli, volunteer of the Year. It came as a surprise to her, but not to those who work with Grinnell.

Governor gave us vote of confidence

When Gov. Booth Gardner signed HB 1671 last week, it was something like seeing the match burn out in a toy thriller, just before the fuse was lit.

The governor's signature forces the city of Tacoma to spend $1.7 million on a ferry to the Olympic Peninsula in the Tacoma Tideflats. In signing, Gardner had to resist the protests of Tacoma Public Utilities and city officials, many of them friends from his days as Pierce County Executive.

In other words, the governor showed both insight and courage, and mightily deserves your respect. Pete Reichbauer. Those are welcome traits in a leader. More politicians need to have them. They might then be able to resist the pressure of elected leaders — and in particular politicians — that the public will have some say in protecting air and water quality.

The EIS will be expensive, if performed. So would a lawsuit. A loophole in the legislation would allow the utility to turn wood and coal, and to burn garbage, which was its original purpose. By sidestepping the intent of the law that way, city leaders would confirm the suspicion that they have something to hide. From what? The declaration of non-significance was issued on the project until the EIS was made a requirement, the city has ducked this issue.

Whether they have a legitimate case or not, their conduct has sent a message to local politicians, whether they have always been decent humans among us, and have parents always had to cope with the possibility that a monster might randomly molest one of their offspring?

Are we naive to lighten up on our guard? What if the allies? Could an innocent stranger be wrongly accused of malice when all he wanted was directions to the mall? For the sake of those strangers, we hope the community reacts with a tolerant smile instead of slamming the door as it slams around.

As law enforcement officers have said, one consequence of rapid growth is the discovery that it brings a greater likelihood of criminal intentions. It also sets a natural resent­ment of strangers who show up on our streets. The neighbors in this little town, where someone happens to be house-hunting, looking for the home of someone who was here yesterday, but who lives in our city today.

That wouldn't have to mean that we all have to keep an eye on our own kids. And if not, anyone who happens to be house-hunting, looking for the home of someone who was here yesterday, but who lives in our city today.

Let's keep our new city both safe and serene, offering strangers a tolerant smile instead of slamming the door as it slams around. We have seen the way with evil eye.

Hooligans took Hayek letter to heart

Editor:
Judge Carolyn Hayes has done a grave disservice to the election process and to neutrality in our political life when she (April 23, Letters to the Editor, "Can the election be fixed?") made her remarks.

"Habeas corpus, the right to a fair trial and due process of law.

"We cannot collectively be residents of the Federal Valley because we have not seen our rights to both the voting station and the ballot box. We have never seen our rights to the voting station and the ballot box. We have never seen our rights to the voting station and the ballot box. We have never seen our rights to the voting station and the ballot box. We have never seen our rights to the voting station and the ballot box.

"Many signs, without consideration of the interests of the people putting signs in their front yards, were stolen in broad daylight or late at night.

"Deception of property, or theft of property, is an offense, and a violation of the law and a violation of the law and a violation of the law and a violation of the law and a violation of the law and a violation of the law and a violation of the law and a violation of the law.

"We never get caught up in the minutiae of the letter of the law, overlooking completely the spirit and thereby making the law of no effect.

"Judge Hayek, by trying to enforce the law as a judge and not using our council court and our ap­peal court would not be acceptable.

...the violence between members. It's always work, since students must create good presentations and include security guards have reported that at least five or six students a day get to see gang-related incidents between now and the end of the school year, said (Richard) (The Federal) (The Federal) security director visited the scene of a gang-related shooting at a school bus loading area, which amounted to a passenger window. The little girl is married. She's in the theater. She had never, she said, been in the theater because of the condition. It was a pretty scary experience, according to Watkins.

Within the schools, the spread for gang violence is spreading. The DARE (Drug Abuse Resistance Education) is a program that includes police officers into the schools to teach kids about drugs. And drug education is spreading through the schools. Some junior high schools are covered while class is in session. And some middle school classes are间 by interdistrict transport. The DARE program is provided to the local school program in schools throughout the area.

No measures are in place to strongly encourage school district administrators to link students with the social workers who can assist them in finding a job, getting rid of drugs, taking care of their health, or counseling them about the dangers of drug use. The overall philosophy for gang violence in the schools, particularly for younger students, is to keep parents involved, to select a local DARE director, to join the Federal Way police and the local social workers, and to support the local DARE program in schools.

The hope is that any trends or perceived problems grow beyond this year. "I just hope we don't even have to worry about it," said Watkins. "It's all intended to keep out the violence before it begins." The gang violence in the schools is part of a larger trend in the Federal Way. And there are solutions that can be implemented to prevent it from spreading to other schools.

The Federal Way school district is one of the few in the state that has a comprehensive program to combat gang violence. The district has a gang prevention program that includes regular meetings with school administrators and law enforcement officials. The program also includes efforts to involve parents and community members in the fight against gang violence.

Hours are sticking point in strike

By WENDY CULVERWELL

Today, the United Food and Commodity Workers Union Local 1105 (grocery store clerks) and 81 (meat cutters) voted overwhelmingly to initiate a strike against such stores as Albertson's and Johnny's.

"It's a difficult time," said Roger Yockey, a member of the union's negotiation team. "But it's necessary. We're not going to back down."

The unions have taken exception to the grocery stores' attempt to make their work environment less than ideal. "Current Dollar doesn't like to give workers a break," Yockey said. "They're not willing to do it." The groups have requested an adjustment to their current wages.

"A percentage of the grocery workers are less than $5 an hour," Yockey said in a statement released May 17.

The union's involved in the negotiations since about 8 a.m. and are arguing as much with the union as they are with the management. The smaller store owners make $13.75/hour and current workers make $15/hour. Sunday pay wage is even more generous.

Summer fun
Kids’ activities abound once school adjourns

Federal Way students and their parents already are well aware that this week is the end of summer. Many of them, however, probably never thought about what happens to schools in late June. For the last few days, the local school systems have been sending home letters to parents describing the summer programs their children will be attending.

The summer camp program sponsored by the Federal Way Boys’ and Girls’ Club will be held at Mirror Lake Elementary School this year. The all-day program, which is limited to 50 enrollees, will be offered to kids ages 6 to 12 for a variety of activities, including arts, crafts, field trips, playing games and swimming. The fee is $42 per week, after a club membership of $25. Call 941-2722 for registration information.

The Kent Parks summer program will have a theme this year of learning about the sun and sun-related problems. The program runs June 27 through Aug. 18. The fee is $115. For registration details, call 1-800-451-8550 for details.

The Federal Way Boys’ and Girls’ Club will hold a Teen Summer program June 19 through Aug. 4. The all-day program is aimed at kids ages 13 through 18 and last for three sessions: June 19 to 23, June 26 to July 21 and July 30 to Aug. 4. The fee is $40 per week, after a club membership is $25. For more information, call 8550 for details.

Summer school in the Federal Way School District will sponsor a summer musical theater camp June 26 to Aug. 4. Camp will meet from 9 a.m. to noon, Mondays through Thursdays. For more information, call 941-2722, ext. 254 for details.

The Kent Parks summer program will have a theme this year of learning about the sun and sun-related problems. The program runs June 27 through Aug. 18. The fee is $115. For registration details, call 1-800-451-8550 for details.

Jefferson booters fall short in shootout

Shawn Bowers made an outstanding defensive play with six minutes left, as he deflected a possible breakaway goal by the Panthers. With 4:35 left, Ditmore lofted a free kick over the Mead defenders and it was off the post. So derby officials can be assured that more fishable docks will be in place this year. Some 19 different manufacturers will provide all the fishing gear and bait.

Top-seeded boys' singles player Forrester Johnson of Decatur will be joined by Canary Wessenburg of the Federal Way Spartans as West Central District AAA tournament representatives to this weekend's day's West Central District AAA tournament. The district Park High School, the after three courts at the Curtis High School.

Lakewood club suffered extensive damage to its tennis facilities due to the recent severe weather. The Lakewood tennis team is planning to participate in the tournament, but its tennis facilities may be limited.

Johnson took the opening match 8-6, 6-3, over South Kitsap's Thompson, before losing a 7-6, 6-2, match to Kentwood's Maddock. Johnson is looking to get to the semis and take the measure of Renton's Steve Forrester, who is seeded second or third at this event.

Johnson's Fed Way teammate Daryn Ditmore was chosen as a midfielder. The South Puget Sound League season was a good time and site location for the public on Sunday, May 28th, and Monday, May 29, 1989, to allow use of the club on a 2 year trial basis.

Golf tournaments affected by wind

Donato scored 30 points in 30 holes to claim fifth place in the Ranger Invitational tournament in Richland Friday. Donato scored 86 to finish just 20 strokes behind the first place, while freshman Corey Gibson shot a 102.

Federal Way sophomores were the only players in the tournament and shot for a 105. General hollows she did very well at the hole, "A final round," he said. "And her second shots went well, but her short game and putting were off. The greens were extremely fast over there."

Conditions looked so bad that both the girls' tournament and the boys' tournament were suspended for the remainder of the day. However, the tournament was canceled.

The day we played the wind was just horrible," explained Baldwin. "Chris has had much experience with that kind of situation. Her ball kept hitting down the green.

Vance, who was the South Puget Sound League medalist tournament last fall, shot a 105 and his first round to make the top-10 cut to play the second.

"Other than the three holes he did well," said Baldwin. "But that she was not in any extra hole." Baldwin felt it was a good experience for all who played, though, and Vance. Berlin and the Sisters Gibson can return next year.

"When they go back next year they will have this experience to draw from," he said.

Warrior baseball team edged out of regionals

By TONY C. DUARTE

Bryan Peterson had a ticket for every time his Seattle ballclub wouldn’t have enough to buy a jar of jellybeans.

During that time, the Warrior baseball team edged out of regionals. That capped a 15-6 season for the Warriors and left Bryan Peterson as a crossover athlete from basketball to baseball.
