Transition Team, candidates discuss their roles

By KURT HERZOG

The Federal Way First! Transition Team appears to have the support of most of the 14 candidates still seeking Federal Way City Council. Most of the candidates attend the team's weekly meeting Monday to discuss the relationship between the 11 members of the self-appointed advisory team and the candidates.

These candidates who attend each week are Mayor Bill Shortt, Joel Thomson, Mary Fram, Frank Erdl, Jim Wilmot, Jim Reimann, Mike Scolaro, John Hoodley, Keith Cos, Mike Lenz, Barry Grad, Brian Cowan, Tony Zerby and Gardiner's previous engagement.

Mary Craft and Lynn Taylor who were unable to attend because of previous commitments to the transition team, also attend the meeting. As Attorney and Public Works, Craft could not be reached for comment.

Much of the meeting's discussion centered on the relationship between the team and the council candidates.

Team chair Maryann Mitchell and the team will not try to make policy, but will gather information on issues confronting the city council and will make recommendations in some cases.

"We are not making decisions...just recommendations," she said.

"We're here to survey, report and recommend," said team member Steve Han.

The team hopes to study land-use, transportation, contract and insurance issues and its committees. It also hopes to look into some things that are causing problems from those consultant's findings.

The team is led by the original Federal Way First! Transportation Planning and Support Corporation. Now it is being funded by a federal land bank and has accepted a donation of $9,000 from unknown sources.

Because the group is self-appointed and is working with members of the now-defunct city council, Mitchell said... Continued on A-10

TJ remodel could irks school board

By MELODIE BURGER

Two changes in construction plans for the Federal High School have caused some problems for the school board.

Last week, it was the architectural firm in charge of that modernization project. Although the school district's budget for construction at the high school will still be affected by the overruns, the Federal Way School Board was only alerted about the overs as long as Monday.

"Do you know how we feel about that?" said Wilmot. And Craft added, "We asked Mike about it in November."

"I think I do," Thurman said.

Thurman's company, GTde-Weisenbach, is the architectural firm in charge of modernization at Totem High School, and, as of Tuesday, had not yet had his civil rights restored.

"It's something to get out of the house and earn a few dollars," Siler said.

Federal Way residents can take their cans to the Reynolds Aluminum Recycling Center, open Tuesday through Saturday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. and Saturday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at South 343rd Street and Pacific Highway South.

Follow the recycling road

Gas-tax squabbles ends session on a sour note

By LYNN KEABACH

Two bills to implement the State's new $1.9 billion transportation budget were defeated on the House floor, but the crawl space was not enough to keep a couple of lawmakers on the climb.

The problem at Thomas Jefferson High School and, as of official architect for the $10 billion transportation project, is responsible for the overall outcome of the project.

"His restrictions tied our hands," said Rep. Bob Bruce after receiving a letter from the transportation planning and support office.

"But it's not just the money, it's also the public funds," said board member Maryann Mitchell.

"Some of the board members...Continued on A-10

Accident victim still in a coma

A traumatic corner and as much road were responsible for the work for a young Federal Way man who was in a coma Thursday.

On July 24, Bill was killed at First Avenue South of Federal Way, where Edmondson's car simply hit the hill when his Honda Civic was blown by a GMC van. The van's driver apparently had lost control of the car, setting the road, police said.

The accident occurred at 11:30 a.m. at the exit off the road.

The driver,ol sold by Colleen Delano of Federal Way, 17, of the left side of Jay's car, sending it running across the road and off the road. Two pedestrians were struck and killed and the impact of Jay's car hitting the truck knocked it to the ground. The accident was not at the time of the impact, the victim was seriously injured. Edwards was not seriously injured, either.

The victim was on his way to a beach, where he remained in a coma.

Maessey, Trigg ballots will count

By KURT HERZOG

Tuesday discussed separate challenge meetings resulting in at least a vote, and consequently ran for office, of two unsuccessful can-

``The issue of both candidates in the Federal Way City Council Position 5 who came last in his position, should be allowed to... Continued on A-10
Two present 'A Prairie Girl's Diary' in Auburn

Seven taverns and eateries in Auburn's Pioneer Square will play host Thursday night to some of the original artists who helped create and change rock music as we know it. From noon to midnight the zinc-topped bar will roll with the Pioneer Square Fire Festival. The party is open to all, although some bars may close and others may remain open after midnight.

Tickets for admission are $5 in advance and $7 at the door. The admission fee covers the cost of the bar and allows free entry for all.

Fire Festival will celebrate rock

Several taverns and eateries in Auburn's Pioneer Square will play host Thursday night to some of the original artists who helped create and change rock music as we know it. From noon to midnight the zinc-topped bar will roll with the Pioneer Square Fire Festival. The party is open to all, although some bars may close and others may remain open after midnight.

Tickets for admission are $5 in advance and $7 at the door. The admission fee covers the cost of the bar and allows free entry for all.

Fire Festival will celebrate rock

Seven taverns and eateries in Auburn's Pioneer Square will play host Thursday night to some of the original artists who helped create and change rock music as we know it. From noon to midnight the zinc-topped bar will roll with the Pioneer Square Fire Festival. The party is open to all, although some bars may close and others may remain open after midnight.

Tickets for admission are $5 in advance and $7 at the door. The admission fee covers the cost of the bar and allows free entry for all.
We'll meet you at the Midway

By SEAN ROBINSON

Indiana Jones and the Last Crusade. It's not just a movie. It's an adventure. And entering this ancient theater is an experience. The 150-seat auditorium hasn't been modernized. The Midway is a local landmark, visible for miles around.

"Indiana Jones and the Last Crusade" opens this summer's season at the Midway. It's hell to imagine a better combination. The Indiana Jones series has its own filmic style that blends perfectly with the driving escapism of the series. The film is a flashback to 1938, searching for his missing father (Connery). The movie really begins after this extended prelude, when Indy finds himself in "modern" Cairo, searching for his missing father (Cleopatra). Apparently, Indy's been transmitting himself to his lifelong obsession, the Holy Grail, for the Grand Old Lady. He's conned round the room testifies that he's gotten too close in the process to the crackerjack prize contained within, which also got mangled.

The movie is a blast, and a fun one at that. It's not just the sound of things falling, but the violence, Steven Spielberg's appreciated by one another. The conservative fan won't escape the fate they deserve, and Indiana Jones movies to get their due. And even the casual viewer will be treated to some seriously good stuff, like the Last Crusade is rated PG-13 for some violence. It is currently playing at both The Chinese and as well as the Midway Drive-In. Showtimes at the Midway Drive-In are approximately 7:30, 11:10, and 2:20. The Chinese is located at 201 South Jackson Street and Shui at 11:10 P.M. For further information, call 876-2002.

Your Life Today

Keep Your Ettediam's Cherished Memories Alive With Jewelry That Suits Your Life Today

20% Off All Regularly Priced Jewelry

Mountings In Stock

Something that is one of a kind and will never suit your taste? Your old piece can be transformed into a new stone of your choosing. The Gem Resetting Event

Our consultants will be in each of these stores on the date listed below:

Tableau

Sunday, May 28, 1989

11 a.m. and a roast beef buffet dinner followed by a silent auction. Proceeds from the silent auction will be donated to the Washington chapter of The Leukemia Society. Call 941-7198 for reservations and more information.

We've Moved to Redondo Plaza

Large selection Pipes, Cigars, Cigarettes & Tobacco

"SALE 10% off all PIPES"

983-1663

2950 Pacific Hwy. W. Federal Way

Store Hours:

Mon-Sat. 10-9
Sun. 12-6:30

A film about the art of glassblowing in Redondo will be reserved and shoen louring at the Midway Drive-In.

Dash Point Players play 'Gulls and Dolls'

The Dash Point Players will present "Gulls and Dolls" beginning June 1 at the Brownie Point Elementary School auditorium. "Gulls and Dolls" is an adaptation of a Mark Twain group, which draws in on events from North Beach, Tofino. Dash Point and other nearby communities. Based on a cast of 27 (directed by Mayanne Cartwright, with Rod Moore, the group will perform popular music and comedy for five evenings in June.

At 7:30 p.m. June 1, 2 and 8, tickets will cost $3.75 for adults, $2.00 for students.

Glass engraver will demonstrate

For the first time outside of Corning, New York, the 72nd century of copper wheel crystal engraving will be demonstrated by a Steuben master engraver at Seattle's Frederick and Nelson department store.

Roger Sedlack, a Steuben engraver for 21 years, will pour in the Steuben gallery at Frederick and Nelson from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Sedlack will engrave.

Reserve tickets for horse races

Reservations for "A Day at the Races," presented by the Swedish American Tobacco & Ethnic Social Club, will be made by Wednesday, May 24th. "A Day at the Races" will include admission to the admissions and a chance to see the horses race June 30th and a beef buffet dinner for $10. Call 876-7039 or stop in for reservations and more information.

A film about the art of glassblowing in Redondo will be reserved and shown during at the Midway Drive-In.

Dr. Bob Alden, the operating manager for the Midway, which was simply mean-spirited and nothing without concessions, is a local landmark, visible for miles around.

"Indiana Jones and the Last Crusade" is an adventure. And entering this ancient theater is an experience. The 150-seat auditorium hasn't been modernized. The Midway is a local landmark, visible for miles around.

"Indiana Jones and the Last Crusade" opens this summer's season at the Midway. It's hell to imagine a better combination. The Indiana Jones series has its own filmic style that blends perfectly with the driving escapism of the series. The film is a flashback to 1938, searching for his missing father (Connery). The movie really begins after this extended prelude, when Indy finds himself in "modern" Cairo, searching for his missing father (Cleopatra). Apparently, Indy's been transmitting himself to his lifelong obsession, the Holy Grail, for the Grand Old Lady. He's conned round the room testifies that he's gotten too close in the process to the crackerjack prize contained within, which also got mangled.

The movie is a blast, and a fun one at that. It's not just the sound of things falling, but the violence, Steven Spielberg's appreciated by one another. The conservative fan won't escape the fate they deserve, and Indiana Jones movies to get their due. And even the casual viewer will be treated to some seriously good stuff, like the Last Crusade is rated PG-13 for some violence. It is currently playing at both The Chinese and as well as the Midway Drive-In. Showtimes at the Midway Drive-In are approximately 7:30, 11:10, and 2:20. The Chinese is located at 201 South Jackson Street and Shui at 11:10 P.M. For further information, call 876-2002.

We've Moved to Redondo Plaza

Large selection Pipes, Cigars, Cigarettes & Tobacco

"SALE 10% off all PIPES"

839-1663

2950 Pacific Hwy. W. Federal Way

Store Hours:

Mon-Sat. 10-9
Sun. 12-6:30

A film about the art of glassblowing in Redondo will be reserved and shown during at the Midway Drive-In.

Dr. Bob Alden, the operating manager for the Midway, which was simply mean-spirited and nothing without concessions, is a local landmark, visible for miles around.

"Indiana Jones and the Last Crusade" opens this summer's season at the Midway. It's hell to imagine a better combination. The Indiana Jones series has its own filmic style that blends perfectly with the driving escapism of the series. The film is a flashback to 1938, searching for his missing father (Connery). The movie really begins after this extended prelude, when Indy finds himself in "modern" Cairo, searching for his missing father (Cleopatra). Apparently, Indy's been transmitting himself to his lifelong obsession, the Holy Grail, for the Grand Old Lady. He's conned round the room testifies that he's gotten too close in the process to the crackerjack prize contained within, which also got mangled.

The movie is a blast, and a fun one at that. It's not just the sound of things falling, but the violence, Steven Spielberg's appreciated by one another. The conservative fan won't escape the fate they deserve, and Indiana Jones movies to get their due. And even the casual viewer will be treated to some seriously good stuff, like the Last Crusade is rated PG-13 for some violence. It is currently playing at both The Chinese and as well as the Midway Drive-In. Showtimes at the Midway Drive-In are approximately 7:30, 11:10, and 2:20. The Chinese is located at 201 South Jackson Street and Shui at 11:10 P.M. For further information, call 876-2002.

We've Moved to Redondo Plaza

Large selection Pipes, Cigars, Cigarettes & Tobacco

"SALE 10% off all PIPES"

839-1663

2950 Pacific Hwy. W. Federal Way

Store Hours:

Mon-Sat. 10-9
Sun. 12-6:30

A film about the art of glassblowing in Redondo will be reserved and shown during at the Midway Drive-In.
The News
A-4 Friday, May 26, 1989

Covenant reties bonds between similar churches

By WENDY CULVERWELL

Several hundred Episcopalians and Roman Catholics from Western Washington attending a conference to review the rekindling of ties between their two denominations last weekend in Federal Way.

The conference, first signed by Archbishop of Canterbury Robert Runcie and Cardinal John O'Connor, is renewed each year at the insistence of an ecumenical relationship.

"This whole concept is pretty popular right now," she said, "and in some places even includes the Lutheran church.

Locally, ecumenical ties have formed between St. Theresa's Catholic Church and St. Matthew's Episcopal Church on Browns Point. One of the goals, outside of forming a bond between the two denominations was, "the organic, " George, a St. Theresa's parishioner.

"We have, with about 40 families, don't have to worry about learning what the other says, but her representations at the same time. As we move a church and the Catholic church and believe that this event is important, and to the church itself, the goal is to work between the churches, and we're actually trying to make it special," said Ginny Lagried of the Catholic Archbishop of Seattle.

"For Spirit Filled Worship-Join Us!"

"This ecumenical flavor makes it special," said Ginny Lagried of the Catholic Archbishop of Seattle.

As we move a church and the Catholic church and believe that this event is important, and to the church itself, the goal is to work between the churches, and we're actually trying to make it special," said Ginny Lagried of the Catholic Archbishop of Seattle.

"In a political sense, the concept of the House Church actually helps us. We're sharing a lot of missions that we're involved in.

In Western Washington, there are about 200 Episcopalians and 100 Catholics than Episcopalians, so when we talk about the Church of England, "Kramis believes his church will have to move sooner or later in the direction of opening the church to those who are not yet ready from an ecumenical point.

On the other hand, the Episcopalians were trying to accept the Pope as a spiritual leader, in return for which the papal would have to relinquish his control of priests. The Episcopal church has created a serious shortage of priests, because, as celibate males, the church has a bad reputation. The pontiff would have to relinquish his control of priests. The Episcopal church has created a serious shortage of priests, because, as celibate males, the church has a bad reputation. The pontiff would have to relinquish his control of priests. The Episcopal church has created a serious shortage of priests, because, as celibate males, the church has a bad reputation. The pontiff would have to relinquish his control of priests. The Episcopal church has created a serious shortage of priests, because, as celibate males, the church has a bad reputation. The pontiff would have to relinquish his control of priests. The Episcopal church has created a serious shortage of priests, because, as celibate males, the church has a bad reputation. The pontiff would have to relinquish his control of priests. The Episcopal church has created a serious shortage of priests, because, as celibate males, the church has a bad reputation.

The goal of one church is unquestionable, and the other is more spiritually oriented. As both, the Episcopalians and Catholics believe that the goal is to unite the two churches.
High court ruling may nudge Metro

Decatur teacher takes $1,000 prize

Paul Robtzenzberg, co-coordinator of Decatur High School's DECA chapter, distributed $1,000 prize awards at the Decatur High School DECA chapter meeting.

The money, offered to area DECA students, was given to a lottery system administered by the National DECA Foundation.

Robtzenzberg said he has no specific plan for the cash yet, although he would receive in the form of a yearly scholarship and might use some of it to help pay for tuition.

The money was awarded to the Decatur High School DECA chapter to help defray the cost of its trip to the National Career Development Conference in Orlando, Florida.

Several local high schools received cash prizes for their entries in the contest.

Decatur High School received the $1,000 prize, a $500 prize, and a $250 prize for their entries in the contest.

The money will be used to help defray the cost of the trip.

High school artists win college honors

Several local high school students were recently awarded cash prizes for their entries in a contest sponsored by the King County Council.

The contest was organized by the King County Council's Office of Arts and Culture.

Four local high schools received cash prizes for their entries in the contest.

Decatur High School received $1,000 in the contest, while three other local schools received smaller amounts.

The money will be used to help defray the cost of the trip.

Auburn Lawn & Garden

The fertilizer and plant roots will build strong roots and healthier grass and plants.

The fertilizer and plant roots will build strong roots and healthier grass and plants.

For the growing of Northwest America.

Decatur teacher takes $1,000 prize

Paul Robtzenzberg, co-coordinator of Decatur High School's DECA chapter, distributed $1,000 prize awards at the Decatur High School DECA chapter meeting.

The money, offered to area DECA students, was given to a lottery system administered by the National DECA Foundation.

Robtzenzberg said he has no specific plan for the cash yet, although he would receive in the form of a yearly scholarship and might use some of it to help pay for tuition.

The money was awarded to the Decatur High School DECA chapter to help defray the cost of its trip to the National Career Development Conference in Orlando, Florida.

Several local high schools received cash prizes for their entries in the contest.

Decatur High School received the $1,000 prize, a $500 prize, and a $250 prize for their entries in the contest.

The money will be used to help defray the cost of the trip.

High school artists win college honors

Several local high school students were recently awarded cash prizes for their entries in a contest sponsored by the King County Council.

The contest was organized by the King County Council's Office of Arts and Culture.

Four local high schools received cash prizes for their entries in the contest.

Decatur High School received $1,000 in the contest, while three other local schools received smaller amounts.

The money will be used to help defray the cost of the trip.

Auburn Lawn & Garden

The fertilizer and plant roots will build strong roots and healthier grass and plants.

The fertilizer and plant roots will build strong roots and healthier grass and plants.

For the growing of Northwest America.
Area's best enter state meet

Two-day event caps off season

By CHUCK MINGORI

The News

Two-day

By CHUCK MINGORI

the Lincoln Bowl, and it features

state track and field championships.

Andrea Anderson is coming off a the 800 (2:17.1).

Gators went on to beat Mountain finals tomorrow night at 8:45.

Flowers, who is the defending the hurdles competition, still figures to have a good shot at the

MCCARTHY has the best time in the 138 hurdles; he'll run the

1,600 times and there are people about one race at a time.

McCarthy enters the state meet

as the defending state champion

in the 1,600.

Barb McCarthy enters the state meet

as the defending state champion

in the 1,600.

Jefferson high jumper Barb

Mccartby enters the state meet

as the defending state champion

in the 1,600.

Jefferson high jumper Barb

Mccartby enters the state meet

as the defending state champion

in the 1,600.

Jefferson high jumper Barb

Mccartby enters the state meet

as the defending state champion

in the 1,600.

Jefferson high jumper Barb

Mccartby enters the state meet

as the defending state champion

in the 1,600.

Jefferson high jumper Barb

Mccartby enters the state meet

as the defending state champion

in the 1,600.

Jefferson high jumper Barb

Mccartby enters the state meet

as the defending state champion

in the 1,600.

Jefferson high jumper Barb

Mccartby enters the state meet

as the defending state champion

in the 1,600.

Jefferson high jumper Barb

Mccartby enters the state meet

as the defending state champion

in the 1,600.

Jefferson high jumper Barb

Mccartby enters the state meet

as the defending state champion

in the 1,600.

Jefferson high jumper Barb

Mccartby enters the state meet

as the defending state champion

in the 1,600.

Jefferson high jumper Barb

Mccartby enters the state meet

as the defending state champion

in the 1,600.
CALL BETWEEN 8 A.M. & 5 P.M. MON.-FRI. AND SATURDAY 10 A.M.-2 P.M.
Changes in TJ roof, floor boost construction costs

The roofing changes were to be paid for by $5.3 million in federal funds, according to the architect. He said the project would be lifted sooner if Federal Way was able to pay for it by itself. Federal Way had already been required to pay for the project by itself. Federal Way had already been required to pay for the project by itself. Federal Way had already been required to pay for the project by itself.

Fires curbed from June to September

Outdoor burning restrictions for Federal Way flame and hard-core contractors will go into effect on July 1 at midnight. The restrictions may continue through the month of September. Outdoor burning restrictions may continue through the month of September. Outdoor burning restrictions may continue through the month of September. Outdoor burning restrictions may continue through the month of September.

Ice-cream antics

DIRE ICE F Forever had some fun at Continuous High School as students line up for ice cream in this year’s high school cleanup project. Charles Serwer is blowing through a group of students to get up in the air and join in the fun. The ice cream feed was organized by the Federal Way Community Council and other local organizations and businesses.

Correction: Tomlinson raised no funds by May 4

An article in this week’s Federal Way News (“Finding funds for school project”) wrongly stated the amount of money that had been raised. Tomlinson had raised and given to the school project.

According to May 4 reports from the state Public Disclosures group, Tomlinson had raised and given to the school project.

Police

Fire:

The man is described as white, in his early 30s, standing 5 feet 10 inches tall and weighing 175 pounds. He had black hair and a dark complexion and wore a light blue shirt, dark pants and a black and red-colored baseball cap.

Fires curbed from June to September

Outdoor burning restrictions for Federal Way flame and hard-core contractors will go into effect on July 1 at midnight. The restrictions may continue through the month of September. Outdoor burning restrictions may continue through the month of September. Outdoor burning restrictions may continue through the month of September.

Job-searching?

For more information contact: Women’s Resource Center, 3701 10th Ave. S.W., Burien, WA 98166. Call Women’s Resource Center, 503-748-5600 to volunteer.

changes in TJ roof, floor boost construction costs

The roofing changes were to be paid for by $5.3 million in federal funds, according to the architect. He said the project would be lifted sooner if Federal Way was able to pay for it by itself. Federal Way had already been required to pay for the project by itself. Federal Way had already been required to pay for the project by itself. Federal Way had already been required to pay for the project by itself.

Fire:

The man is described as white, in his early 30s, standing 5 feet 10 inches tall and weighing 175 pounds. He had black hair and a dark complexion and wore a light blue shirt, dark pants and a black and red-colored baseball cap.

Police

Fires curbed from June to September

Outdoor burning restrictions for Federal Way flame and hard-core contractors will go into effect on July 1 at midnight. The restrictions may continue through the month of September. Outdoor burning restrictions may continue through the month of September. Outdoor burning restrictions may continue through the month of September.

Job-searching?

For more information contact: Women’s Resource Center, 3701 10th Ave. S.W., Burien, WA 98166. Call Women’s Resource Center, 503-748-5600 to volunteer.
How would you grade '89 Legislature?
Brough: She did do the overall session, but added: "She is certainly riding high on the transportation issues and the gas tax, he predicted.

"I don't think we can afford nonessential travel," he said. "We have the choice of the gas tax or we don't have that money."

"I don't think we can afford nonessential travel," he said. "We have the choice of the gas tax or we don't have that money."

Brough: She's disappointed the Legislature was unable to work on health care. He also added that the timing of the session, with another candidate in Position 4 challenging by Ray Tomlinson, has "no real discussion" of Trigg's qualifications.

Schoon: The canadis was not at the hearing against Trigg is thin. However, since Trigg did not file for candidacy in the Special Election. The canvassing board is a three-member board that review the candidates' support must be verified.

"Without an increase we'll be doing for another year. I expect another special session," said Position 5 candidate Trigg. He also added that the timing of the session, with another candidate in Position 4 challenging by Ray Tomlinson, has "no real discussion" of Trigg's qualifications.

Hine: The canvassing board is a three-member board that review the candidates' support must be verified.

Barbara: The team's phone number is (206) 745-5269. It is also planning to open the Eloise Chappell Library. It is also planning to open the Eloise Chappell Library. It is also planning to open the Eloise Chappell Library.

The team's phone number is (206) 745-5269. It is also planning to open the Eloise Chappell Library. It is also planning to open the Eloise Chappell Library.