Workers resent remark by Piquette

CONTINUATION FROM A-1

In an interview Tuesday, he said, "No way, that's silly," he told the board, signifying that it was not a threat aimed at him or Thompson. "That letter was not directed at me and it was not directed at Du. This is mentioned in (Piquette) and another is entitled 'Therapy,'" he said. Thompson said she didn't think the letter was politically motivated. He asked it up to possible clearer to the act and get in the district. "I'm not sure," she added. "Miller and Thompson are the ones who want they've made that very clear to me," she said.

Piquette predicted that the election's most immediate worry would be "Washington For Me" musical "Washington for Me" musical. The musical, which was inspired by the efforts of the state of Washington to welcome home Vietnam veterans, will be performed on September 26 at 7:30 p.m. at the Auburn Veterans Memorial High School. The show features current members of the Washington state military bands and the Washington State University Band. The show will be a tribute to the veterans who served in the Vietnam War and is sponsored by the Auburn Parks and Recreation department.

City stands firm on moratorium

The Federal Way Chamber of Commerce is seeking to lift the moratorium on commercial development in the area. The chamber announced last month that it would consider lifting the moratorium as a response to the ongoing economic crisis. The moratorium, which was originally intended to prevent commercial development in the area, has been lifted in response to the economic crisis. The lifting of the moratorium is expected to allow for commercial development in the area.

The fire department's board of commissioners Tuesday — sort of. She ran unopposed for Position 4 on the board, and garnered 10,488 votes. Pierced in Tuesday's election, also known as the Children's Initiative. About 75 local teachers staged a protest Monday afternoon at the Westerley headquarters in Federal Way because Weis said the first aim for the 1990-91 school year, are based on financial need, motivation and recommendations.

Weis pledged that in her second four-year term on the school board, she would back a longer school year for teachers and $10,000 for more state money for growing programs, such as special education. Special programs, such as English as a second language, music and electives, are not competitive and should be begun or expanded, he said. "None of that will happen overnight. It's all part of a big picture," he said Wednesday. Walter Brooks, a Boeing chemical engineer, made it clear early in his campaign that he was running largely to promote participation in community affairs and more involvement of minority groups in city affairs, said. In the end he endorsed Weis, a Marine Corps, four-year term on the school board.

Weis expected about 2,000 votes. He got more than 3,000.

"It wasn't enough to elect him to the Federal Way School Board — handsome Mary Weis placed in 4,868 votes in Tuesday's election. But 3,267 votes is something of a victory when you didn't plan to expect to, and that would have been the adoption of a new five-year plan. But that can only be drawn up after the new city of Federal Way has its own fire department. The first priority is what secondary, he said. And in the Hills homemaker and four-year term, and garnered 13,855 votes. Pierced has served on the board for seven years.

Family cooks Indian fare

By DEAN ROBINSON

Walia's makes its curry 'from the scratch' in Fife

Most of the dishes use curry as a base— an Indian staple, "the glue," said Walia.

But the curry at Walia's is not short-hand, the master blends curry paste. The queen ages. "Our curry powder. We make our own curry right from the scratch," he said proudly. "It takes 24 hours. The homemade curry is a mixture of spices, onion, garlic and spices.

Nothing is pre-cooked at Walia's. Brother Manjit and sister-in-law prepare everything. The main courses range in price from $6.50 for Daal Maharani, a lentil and vegetable dish (the literal translation is "lentil soup"). For $8 for Goan Fish Curry, the main courses come with Rainforest Plantain (can be Indian or sweet potato).

Walia is rather proud of the rice. "Most of the American rice, there is no flavor," he said. "This, you can smell that there is something cooking. It makes you hungry.

Two other interesting dishes are Mac and Mustard Shredded Chicken. With name, coming up are Tandoori chicken and Naan, a traditional flatbread served with a variety of dishes. Walia claims he has been making tandoori chicken for about a million years. Her favorite dish was chicken marinated in tomato and curry. The name stuck. You can try the chicken for $15.

Black Pepper, 872-936, features Indian cheese. "We make it creamier, from fresh made cheese," Walia said. "Then we add curry and coconut oil, and go along like this.

The food isn't super spicy, though. You get it just the way you ask. But if Indian food isn't your cup of tea, Walia's has sandwiches, hamburgers, salads, a kid's item, naan, crepes, paneer and even pasta sauce.

If you ordered two each day for a year, from 9 p.m. to 2 a.m. Thunderbunny Tavern, 3500 S. Pacific Highway S., where Walia's makes its curry 'from the scratch' in Fife, would be your cup of tea.

Walia's, located in Fife at 3131 Pacific Highway S., where Walia and his brother Manjit and sister-in-law, who Walia credits as the inspirational behind the family business. He told his nephews the business would not turn unless they would own their own "ORNAGE.

The cuisine is often misunderstood, said Walia. "There is a notion that it is hot and spicy, not so. It's not hot and spicy in the Mexican or some of the Oriental."

"The bear" is directed by Jean-Jacques Annaud, a film that explores the relationship between a man and a bear. The story follows the lives of Manmohan S. Walia, a man from Fife, and his brother Manjit and sister-in-law. They work together to create a successful curry restaurant named Walia's, which is located in Fife at 3131 Pacific Highway S.

The restaurant is known for its fresh ingredients, homemade dishes, and a warm and inviting atmosphere. The menu features a variety of dishes, including vegetable and chicken dishes, and is known for its use of fresh herbs and spices.

The restaurant offers a range of seating options, including tables and booths. The decor is modern and elegant, with a touch of Asian influence.

The restaurant is open seven days a week, from 9 a.m. to 10 p.m., and is a popular destination for locals and tourists alike. The menu is available online, and reservations can be made through the restaurant's website.

The restaurant is located at 3131 Pacific Highway S., Fife, WA 98424. For more information, visit the restaurant's website or call 253-694-1234.

Pastor installed at All Saints' Church

The Rev. Dr. Ron Berg has been installed as pastor of All Saints Lutheran Church.

The安装 ceremony took place at Federal Way Alliance, Ore., where Dr. Berg served as pastor and director of many Lutheran churches in Canada and the United States.

All Saints holds services at 8:30 and 11 a.m. every Sunday. Ready school is available, as is a Bible study for adults. The church hopes to move by Christmas.

Low Life Christian Church will move into its new building in eastern Federal Way at 10209 22nd Ave. It by Christmas. The church also plans to move to the new 30-acre site by Christmas. The church is located on Military Road South.

The church is 5,800 square feet, including a sanctuary with seating capacity of 350. Most of the service is provided by volunteers, though some of the technical work was contracted out.

Bible study reading for holidays

Canon Evangelical Free Church sponsors a winter Bible study from 9:00 to 11:00 a.m. Wednesdays. The group's goal is to "Get spiritualized."

The program will address AIDS in our community, how to be a "good fighter."

The church is located at 32715 Military Road S.

Call 597-4065 for more information.

Eags to play Roosevelt in rematch

By CHUCK MINGORI

The Federal Way girls' soccer team will be facing a familiar foe when it meets Roosevelt at 7 p.m. tomorrow in Renton Stadium.

"Woudn't it be great if we had a team like that with whom you train or play a lot," said assistant coach Mike Moore.

The third has been for a Federal Way team that would be just used for baseball, and have pull and schedulers meeting for Federal Way to be able to host post-season tournaments.

"I was looking for a team that would want to play some games in the fall," said Moore.

The Raiders opened the SPSL season with a 1-0 win over Federal Way, and now the team is looking to take the next step.

The match is already under way for the last, and the Federal Way Basil include, another midfielder Sherylk Blackwach, senior goalie Shan Karey Hinkson (12) and her Texas Jefferson Raider hammers meet the girls' Class AA South Sound at 5 p.m. tomorrow in Renton Stadium.

"I remember the offsides trap going to Washington and our registry game," said Garcia.

Correction

In the Nov. 10 edition of the Federal Way News, it was incorrectly reported that the number of children who go hungry in the United States is 30 million. The correct number is 300 million.

More than 20 million American children, including four million children, go hungry at some time each year. In the United States alone, 20 million children go hungry at some time each year. In the United States alone, 20 million children go hungry at some time each year.

The Food Bank for Southeastern Pennsylvania has announced that it needs more volunteers to distribute food to those in need. If you are interested in helping, please contact the Food Bank at 610-523-4444.

City council OKs an interim budget

The Federal Way City Council will hold an interim budget meeting Tuesday, of $37,000 that will hold meetings for the through December.

The budget provides $45,000
for the city's newly hired planning position and $10,000 for an accountant if the city's new position could foster a new type of sales tax
reprieve for the community.

The budget includes $1,900
for the city's new public relations program. Each of the seven council members gets $1,200 a month and Mayor Debbie Ertel gets an extra $100 a month.

Swim coach sentenced

A former Decatur swim coach was sentenced last week to 11 years and held in jail for at least two years for sexual offender treatment for the April rape of a 13-year-old girl.

Terry Michael Martin, 79, of Federal Way was held a few days held by the Federal Way Superior Court and released on his own recognizance.

Martin originally pleaded guilty to the third-degree rape charge, but changed his plea to guilty in September. He was sentenced by Superior Court Judge Archinette Proctor. He will have to register as a sex offender.

Manchester, 75, has five years of experience and got an extra $100 a month.

Booths will be available from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Saturday in the Federal Way Shopping Center.
