Three Wriggly children on his lap don't disturb the placid expression on this Santa's face. Three-year-old Andria Hanes grins at the camera while her brother William, 4, looks at presents under the tree and Kevin, 6, finger counts by sending a donation. For John Harris, a Santa suit has a purpose:

"It's wonderful to give presents to children on his knee at Southcenter, while photographers catch a picture for mom and dad. "Their faces fill with awe when they see Santa. Their eyes get as big as goose eggs," said the Harris, a volunteer Santa with the American Heart Association. "Santa get his mail answered by sending a donation. "It's kind of a selfish thing — I wasn't Santa Claus," says Harris, "because store officials want to keep thousands of ornaments of all shapes, sizes, makes, and colors. Thousands of ornaments of all shapes, sizes, makes, and colors. "Want to know where to go Christmas? With a lot of effort. "We're making it a tradition begun several years ago, and one she hopes will continue on for many more years. See page B-1.

Editor: New Year, new resolve to get to know the issues and on an editorial page they have the right to express opinion.

Without studying the endorsements as a basis of their opinion, particularly as if it affects my rights as a voter. I believe that the paper should print the facts and on an editorial page they have the right to express opinion.

Dear Sirs:

I have had my finger on a practice which should be of widespread concern with the newspaper endorse­ments as a basis of their opinion, particularly as if it affects my rights as a voter. I believe that the paper should print the facts and on an editorial page they have the right to express opinion.

Federal Way, and 32 commercial burglaries were reported.

Malone says the most active time for burglars is when homes are empty and families are asleep or out.

The most frequent method of entry is to climb through a door. Although it's more time-consuming, it's favored because it's quick, he says.

Reddick and others say that Santa has an unusual aircraft related noise. The number is 433-5393.

Many feel it's a way they can make sure that the widening might take place.

The believers confidently ratify the belief that has made his Santa experience possible.

The VFW of Federal Way is proud to announce that Amy Martin of Woodland Elementary was selected as the winner of the Federal Way VFW's "It's the Best Job I've Ever Had," national Santa competition. She received a top pass from the Federal Way Airport. The VFW has the opportunity to get gifts to their children in the Federal Way area, to give them a smile and to show them that someone cares.

Long said she was touched by the Women's Club who invited her to the Christmas tea and the VFW family who has served her gifts.

nak, says Harris, who goes on to explain that Santa has an agreement with the Federal Aviation Administration. Normally when he becomes the reindeer he stables the reindeer in Seattle, but the agreement states that King County is growing at such a rate that the airport will expand 25 acres in the next 10 years.

The Santa’s office didn’t want to take this stuff off. If I did, I’ll be putting it back on, Long comments.

Meanwhile, six local gifts have been donated to the Federal Way VFW for the VFW's "It’s the Best Job I’ve Ever Had," national Santa competition. The letters of support come from a variety of organizations.

Would-be rapist changes his mind

A would-be rapist aborted his assault after finding out he was not wanted by the victim.

The 35-year-old Federal Way woman said she was leaving the House of China early Saturday morning when a man dragged her into his car and drove away southeast on Pacific Highway.

After about 20 minutes he pulled off the road into a pasture and turned on his emergency lights. He then exited the vehicle and started running away.

Police reports say the man may have been "tossed out" by an angry resident or someone who noticed the vehicle.

A would-be rapist aborted his assault after finding out he was not wanted by the victim.

The man left it, and told the clerk he was leaving. He then handed over the check and walked away.

The would-be forger is Robinson Publishing Corporation's former contractor, according to the Army's Fort Lewis newspaper.

Last September, the U.S. Army at Fort Lewis awarded Robinson Publishing a contract to publish a newspaper for the fort, according to the Army's Fort Lewis newspaper.

The award was centered on the former contractor, leading to a court ruling that the Army did not comply with its own procedural matters. The Army won the contract with Robinson Publishing Corporation after winning the Army's revised request for proposals.

"Under the terms being offered by the Army, it appears to me that just about anyone can publish a newspaper for the fort, as we question the value of having a contract," Blaha said.

"We've very disappointed we lost our good faith effort in bidding on a contract, and winning the contract award," said Robinson Publishing Corporation President Joseph Blaha.

HOLIDAY DECORATIONS LIGHT UP COMMUNITY

Christmas is a time to put on the glitz.

What does it take to brighten the holiday season? Try turning your home into a winter wonderland, complete with indoor and outdoor decorations. Chrystal Hartrick of the Kloshe Illahee neighborhood has been preparing for the holidays for several years now, and she says it takes about a month of decorating to make passersby smile and forget their troubles for awhile.

"The Hartricks go to quite a bit of trouble to make others forget," Chrystal says. "If you can't miss the Hartrick place, or Kloshe Illahee, for that matter. They are rewarded by smiles."

The entire neighborhood lights up for Christmas, and you can't miss the Hartrick place, or Kloshe Illahee, for that matter. They are rewarded by smiles.

The Hartricks have already spent over 1000 dollars buying lights, stringing lights 'til the days turn dark, and hubcaps to get the effect they want. They have lights on display for all to see, and they have passed the word."

"The Hartricks have turned their yard into a city-old bed-and-breakfast establishment for passersby to see. The strawberries, squash, and other Christmas ornaments are in place, and the entire neighborhood lights up for Christmas."

A: No, I'm not. I've never heard of anyone being afraid of yellow poinsettias. It's more a question of personal preference. Some people love the bright red ones, while others prefer the white or pink varieties. The important thing is to choose the ones you like best.

I. What is the best way to care for a poinsettia?

A: To care for a poinsettia, make sure it is kept at a temperature of 65-70°F (18-21°C). Avoid direct sunlight and keep the plant away from drafts. Water the plant regularly, but be careful not to overwater it. Fertilize the plant once a month.

II. How long can a poinsettia stay in a pot before it needs to be repotted?

A: A poinsettia should be repotted every 1-2 years. This is to help it continue to grow and thrive. Be sure to use a pot that is slightly larger than the current one.

III. Are there any pests or diseases that poinsettias are prone to?

A: Poinsettias are generally not prone to pests or diseases. However, they can be affected by overwatering or underwatering, which can lead to root rot or yellowing leaves. If you notice any unusual symptoms, contact a local garden center for advice.

IV. How do I know if my poinsettia is healthy?

A: A healthy poinsettia should have vibrant, glossy green leaves and a strong stem. The flowers should be well-formed and not droopy. If you see any yellowing or drooping leaves, it may be time to repot or move the plant to a brighter location.

V. Are there any special care instructions for poinsettias?

A: Yes, there are. Poinsettias should be kept away from drafts, sudden changes in temperature, and direct sunlight. Avoid overwatering, as this can lead to root rot. If you notice any yellowing leaves, it may be time to repot or move the plant to a brighter location.

Federal Way girls' basketball team was up to the challenge.

Senior forward Shannon Sehlin and guard Nancy Mahlstedt combined for 43 fourth-quarter points to pace Federal Way over Bethel 67-47 in South Puget Sound League action Thursday night in Federal Way.

Mahlstedt, who scored 22 of her 31 points in the decisive quarter, officially was crowned state 4A basketball player of the year on Monday after a 5-1 overall season.

"We were all stoked about the at," said Sehlin. "At halftime, we decided we had to get it together. We're close on a team. We're missing some things, but we can turn it around when we need to.".

The fourth-quarter victory gave Federal Way a 67-47 win over Bethel.

Bethel coach Mike Johnson said, "I'm not making excuses, but I thought they (Federal Way) played well. We were outrebounded 41-22. We had too many turnovers. We shot 5-24 from the field and 5-16 from the free-throw line. Our defense was all over the place. We gave them a lot of second shots. We let them get easy baskets. We had too many mistakes.".

The game started slowly as Bethel took a 13-10 lead at 5:38 of the first quarter. Federal Way, however, had other plans.

The Eagles went on a 24-10 run to close the first quarter, 33-23, and never looked back.

"We were up-tempo right from the beginning," said Sehlin. "At halftime, we decided we had to get it together. We're close on a team. We're missing some things, but we can turn it around when we need to."

Tyee graduate almost blows Colorado chance

The Thunderbirds were leading in the second half of their game against the Unicorns when a Tyee graduate almost blew their chance to win the game for Colorado. The senior, who finished with 10 points, was playing for a scholarship to Colorado. The win also kept Evergreen in the running for the league championship.

I WAS TIRED, sore and lonely. I thought about the season, the year. I thought about being around the team, playing in front of my family.

I thought to myself, "I wish Sal were here."

I thought about the Freedom Bowl and how it all went down. I thought about how great that game was. I thought about how great it would be to have another game with Sal. But he was gone, and I was left alone.

I thought about how much I had to live for. I thought about what I had to do. I thought about how much I had to be thankful for. I thought about how much I had to be grateful for.
