Residents fear effects of widening S.W. 356th

By BRAD BROBERG

In a community where traffic is already at the point of congestion, residents are concerned about the potential widening of S.W. 356th from 184th to 198th Avenue S.W. They fear that the project will exacerbate traffic problems and negatively impact their quality of life.

"We've been hearing about this project for years," said one resident, "but I don't think the county has considered our concerns sufficiently. They need to do more to engage us in the planning process and address our legitimate concerns about traffic congestion and noise pollution."
Public is ill-served by secret meetings

D our Federal Way City Council meetings are crowded? Did we get your attention for you? Relish yourselves on the laws pertaining to public meetings. We knew that you are basically a decent group of people, shown in your desire to get the flak out of the Federal Way off to a good start. We also know that your Locke's office last Tuesday night was probably not a announced meeting in interim City Manager Al meetings themselves and/or by reading our newspaper. But a couple of phone calls to friends in Manila assured us that the streets were really was a military parade. So we bought our airline tickets and made reservations in Manila just as the crisis with Ferdinand

“Psychic healers” there had been a bit of a stir. As we looked for a young man, apparently he was the one we were looking for. I had to do whatever I could for a visit to their government

The foyer was as large as a palace, feelings of guilt for the hundreds of people who are beheaded against that fence looking for their government buildings. I talked my way past the United States, of my familiarity with the history of the Philippines, and of our capabilities to improve our understanding of the country and its people.

Your story on the Helping Hands for the Homeless telephone fundraising effort (Dec. 30) served a useful pur­pose. It was a good job of repor­ting by Lynn Keebaugb.

I was going to write to you about this, but decided against it because it is not the time of year for such things. But I wanted to tell you how much I enjoyed the story you wrote in the News about the couple going to visit the Marcos Palace. The story was well-written and informative, and I thought it was a great way to educate readers about the history of the Philippines.

Residents are wary of wider road

Many residents complained that the county was doing "bumps" below fair market value, making it too hard to sell or rent the houses. Buyers also said different properties owned were being offered different rates.

Mannakker said the efforts are based on agreements on both sides. From my standpoint, I don’t see one neighbor being treated differently than another. And that’s something we want to be able to do.

Although several people at the meeting acknowledged that different people have different opinions, but said for her, the overriding issue is the width of the road.

She adds that the meeting was agreed upon, though, was their dispclusions with the county’s hardball negotiating tactics for rights of way.

Charity loses toys to holiday Grinch

A Grinch breaks into New Lake Baptist Church last week and stole a little bit of Christmas.

“Three lanes is not feasible because there’s no money available to do it,” said Hand- manker.

Students describe the end of the sky

"Where Does the Sky End?" Reflections finalists selected arts and music -- at four levels: school, district, state and national. The top three en­tries at each level receive cash prizes as well as books for their efforts. From kindergartners to seniors in high school, students submitted essays and poems, photographs, stories, drawings and music, all of which were supposed to answer the question, "Where Does the Sky End?"

Entries from each of the par­ticipating schools will have their entries displayed at SeaTac Mall Jan. 2-6.

The 24 students whose works will go on for judging at the state level are:
- From Lake Dolloff Elementary School, Antonia Lebeau, Amy Trotter, and Leena Samuel, were all finalists for their literature entries.
- Kenneth McNett, a student at Panther Lake Elementary School and the daughter of LeRoy and Miriam Silva, was also a finalist for literature. She was displayed at SeaTac Mall Jan. 2-6.

"Where Does the Sky End?" which was the contest's theme. The girls attend Panther Lake Elementary School and are the daughters of LeRoy and Miriam Silva.
Blind can put faith in large cookbook

Bread wishes to you for a healthy, prosperous new year. Looking back through the past year, I especially remember working on another cookbook. I thought you'd like to know about this unique cookbook because it may be helpful to you or a loved one.

Simple Yet Elegant, A Jumbo-Print Cookbook,* published by the Minneapolis non-profit organization providing services for people with vision impairment, had about a year ago. My husband, who became totally blind as the result of a farm accident near the family farm, was a big fan of the book. "The idea is great," he said, "and it might be something our blind friends would enjoy." The first class I knew of this type of cookbook was rare—large-print cookbooks were not widely available when I was first starting to write and use the jumbo-print typeface.

Jefferson boys breeze by Renton, 57-41

By CHUCK MINGORI

Federal Way News

The Thomas Jefferson boys' basketball team took advantage of some poor shooting by Renton in the first quarter to sink the Raiders in a non-league basketball contest 57-41.

The Raiders pulled out to a 13-1 lead and then cruised to an easy homecourt win over winless Renton of the South Puget League.

The Indians fell to 3-5 on the season, while the Raiders improved their mark to 5-1 in the process.

Renton led 13-1 after the first period, with Tom Tilburn stepping out to knock down the game’s first three-pointer. But the Indians were ability-stripped by a 36-24 margin.

Renton’s Steve依然 and Kiel Ham were especially deadly from behind the arc, coming through with 3 of 6 shots from the field to give the Raiders a 31-17 lead at the half.

Renton took a 55-38 lead going into the fourth quarter, as the Indians were just 1 of 19 from the field in the second half. By that time, Jefferson was leading 57-41, 7-3 holding an 18-1 advantage in the final minutes.

Renton coach Jerry Case said that was the margin Jefferson made 24 of 39 field goal attempts, including 6 of 8 shots from the field and 2 of 3 shots from the line.

Renton got to the free-throw line 13 times, and was able to knock down 9 of 14 free throws and outrebound Jefferson, 15-13, in the second half. But the Indians still trailed by a 31-17 margin at halftime after falling behind by as many as 20 points twice in the contest.

Various organizations offer help to fishing ‘addicts’

"I don’t smoke, or drink, chase women or take drugs," on his ranch as he justified a new graphite rod. "He wouldn’t touch his in-law’s gift to himself, you understand. We kept an eye on the house, we didn’t want him to see the new rod. ‘Get back on fishing trips, that’s truer than the first sound of a fish.""

Like many addictions, fishing starts as a simple routine. It’s a way to pass the time. "Imagine you’re on the bank of a lake, you’re casting your line, and suddenly you feel a tug. You pull and pull, but the fish keeps going. You’re in shock," he said.

"The next sign is when you start to dream about fishing. You might think about it at night, you might dream about it during the day. You start to plan your days around fishing," he said.

Then comes the fishing rigging, the planning, the gear. "You spend more and more money on fishing gear, you might even sell your car or house to buy more gear," he said.

"Finally, you’re so hooked that you can’t go a day without fishing. You might even sneak out of work or school to go fishing," he said.

"When you recognize these symptoms, you need to get help," he said. "It’s not just about the fish, it’s about the stress relief, the community, the people that you meet. Fishing is a way to escape the stresses of everyday life."

"Our organization offers counseling, support groups, and educational resources to help fishing ‘addicts’ get their lives back on track," he said.
